Beach Exploration Station

Drop by the boardwalk between the parking lot and beach.

The beach is more than just a place to relax and swim. You might discover an endangered species battling for survival. Gooseberry Island Hike

Meet at Gooseberry Island gravel parking lot (B2 on map).

Gooseberry island has been many things: an indigenous fishing ground, a WWII lookout, and a home to seasonal cottages. Join a park interpreter to explore how the island has evolved over time. A moderate 1.5-mile hike on pebbles and sand. For adults and older children.

Wrackline: Trash or Treasure?

Meet at end of boardwalk leading to beach (B1 on map).

Mysteries pile up where the ocean meets the sand. Have you ever stumbled upon a fascinating or strange object while walking at the beach? Is it an egg casing? Or a piece of fishing gear from thousands of miles away? Let's walk the high-tide line (also called the wrack line), to see what stories we can discover. For all ages.
