Statement of Interest	Imagine if we could remove the power of money from political decisions? Imagine if the power of 501-C4 social welfare organizations invisibly funded by corporate money has the ability to contravene public welfare? Imagine if multinational companies or labor unions did not have the ability to, through financial means, influence legislation on the quality of the air we breathe, the cleanliness of the oceans we swim in or the food we eat? Imagine if money didn't matter, or mattered less? Should corporations be able to replace citizens in the power to affect or hinder change? In most cases corporations are driven, understandably, by the drive to make a profit or further a cause. If such entities are allowed by law to contribute, as guided by the 2010 ruling in Citizens United. v. F.E.C. to directly promote the election or defeat of a political candidate what then is the likely result? Focusing more narrowly I am concerned about the quality of the drinking water on Cape Cod. The groundwater has been contaminated by fire retardants as well as numerous other chemicals that range from incorrectly disposed of medicines to pesticides. Why did this happen? An innocent mistake? Perhaps, but why is it so difficult to get those chemicals regulated and/or banned? I wonder. Is it corporate money i.e. influence? It is not just people who are affected. The fish in the surrounding bay. The birds that feed nearby. All threatened. I support Ballot Question 2! We must find a way out.
