Signature Hike Jug End Loop Trail

Trailhead: Begin from the parking area off of Jug End Road in Egremont Lat/Long: 42.149382, -73.450313

Distance: 3 miles, or 4.16 miles with option Difficulty: Moderate

Brief Description: Hike up a scenic valley, between mountains, through hemlock and hardwood forest and open meadows. The Jug End Loop Trail, blazed with blue triangle trail markers, will probably take you an hour or two. Heading counter-clockwise, cross the footbridge over the brook, south end of the parking area. Head south following the mowed path along the field edge. It may get muddy/wet in this location. Keep an eye out open for migratory songbirds and wildflowers. The trail then climbs through woods. At the old stone chimney keep left, cross the brook and head north along the Lower Loop Trail. The trail passes through open fields with splendid mountain views to the west. The last field approaching the parking area is an old apple orchard. OPTION: To extend your hike another mile, at the old stone chimney follow signs for the Upper Loop Trail. This route continues to ascend the valley through woods and crosses a brook. This reconnects back with the Lower Loop Trail which you follow back to the parking lot.
