I would like to be considered for the Citizens Commission established by Question 2 this past November. I fought hard for Question 2 last year and I would like to be part of the process to overturn Citizens United. Corporate money in our elections taints the entire process.

I have a BA from Rutgers University and an MA from Harvard in history. I taught civics and history for several years at the high school level. Aside from my understanding of constitutional law, my ability to break down complex concepts into smaller, more comprehensible ones, would be a great asset to this commission.

I am a stay-at-mom of two school-aged children on the autism spectrum. This means my schedule is fairly flexible. I have also developed an all too clear understanding of how advocacy takes patience and meticulous planning.

As chairperson of the Reading Indivisible chapter, I am organized, efficient, and deeply plugged into grassroots efforts in the area. I understand how to effectively utilize volunteers and to employ social media to garner support for the campaign.

Thank you for considering me for the commission!
