

Selecting a Nursing or Rest Home

Massachusetts Long Term Care Ombudsman
Program

A decision that someone can no longer live independently is often made during a time of crisis, frequently when someone is ready to leave the hospital after a serious illness or operation.

It is helpful to explore alternatives that permit someone to receive the needed care in their own home before considering placement in a nursing home. A wide variety of community based health and supportive services are available. For information about possible alternatives to long term care, contact the Executive Office of Elder Affairs at 1-800-AGE-INFO (1-800-243-4636), or www.ma.gov/elder .

Any placement in a nursing or rest home must be done with the consent of the individual or guardian (with court approval). A nursing home or rest home will be the new home for the individual, so as with any move, that person must be involved in the decision making process. Before the situation becomes an emergency it is important to discuss the issue thoroughly with them.

THE LONG TERM CARE OMBUDSMAN

Ombudsmen educate residents, families and staff about resident rights. Local Ombudsmen visit facilities on a regular basis. They listen to residents and attempt to resolve their concerns as they are received.

Ombudsmen can assist an individual and their family during the decision making process. As advocates for residents in long term care homes, Ombudsmen are familiar with facilities in your area. A list of all the Ombudsman programs is included in this guide.

WHERE TO BEGIN?

When someone needs help dressing, shopping, preparing meals or with other personal chores or has progressive deterioration in their physical or mental status and when their needs cannot be met by family or community services, it may be time to consider a nursing or rest home.

A good starting place is for the family and the person needing care to discuss the issues and options to best meet their needs. A hospital social worker or physician may be helpful to the discussion. Always keep the individual's needs and preferences at the forefront of the entire process. It is their lifestyle that will change, and they have the right to be involved in determining how they want to live their life.

Once it is determined that a long term care setting is appropriate, an assessment of the individual's need for nursing home care is done through the local Aging Services Access Point (ASAP). The local Ombudsman can connect families with their nearest ASAP.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A NURSING HOME AND A REST HOME?

Nursing homes are licensed by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health and provide 24-hour long term care for frail individuals, short term care for people who have been hospitalized and need rehabilitation before returning home, and specialty care for individuals with physical and neurological disabilities. Services provided by nursing homes include 24-hour nursing care, rehabilitative services, such as physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy; help with personal care, like bathing, eating dressing or toileting; activity programs and social services. A nursing home may provide skilled care, supportive care or both.

Rest homes, also licensed by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, provide 24-hour supervision and supportive services for individuals who do not routinely need nursing or medical care. Rest homes provide housing, meals, activities and administration of medications for individuals who need a supportive living arrangement.

WHAT'S AN ASSISTED LIVING RESIDENCE?

Assisted living refers to a combination of housing and supportive services including personal care (such as bathing and dressing assistance) and household management (such as meals and housekeeping). Assisted living is a residential option. Any resident has the right to supplement the care that is provided by the residence.

Assisted living residences charge a monthly fee, the more care needed, the higher the fee. The majority of assisted living residents pay privately. Individuals with long term care insurance policies should contact their carrier to determine if they qualify for coverage of any services in an assisted living setting.

For further information about Assisted Living options, or to receive a copy of the Assisted Living Residence Consumer Guide, contact the Assisted Living Ombudsmen at the Executive Office of Elder Affairs at 1-800-AGE-INFO (1-800-243-4636), or at www.mass.gov/elder.

HOW DO I PAY FOR A STAY IN A NURSING OR REST HOME?

The responsibility for payment of long term care rests with the individual needing care. Some people use their own income and assets to pay the costs, while others purchase long-term care insurance to defray the costs of long term care.

In a nursing home, Medicare may be used for a limited stay when specific skilled and rehabilitation care is needed. When their financial resources are limited, residents living long term in a nursing home setting utilize a joint state and federal program, Medicaid.

For a rest home stay, individuals may pay privately, or if their income is limited, they may be eligible for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or, in very limited instances, EAEDC (Emergency Aid for Elders, Disabled and Children).

In addition, certain eligible Veterans may have their stay in either a nursing or rest home paid for through the Veterans Administration.

THE SHINE PROGRAM: If an individual is uncertain about what health insurance coverage they have, or how to select the best plan for them, they may contact the SHINE program. The SHINE (Serving the Health Information Needs of Everyone) Program provides health insurance counseling services to elderly and disabled adults. To reach a SHINE counselor, contact: 1-800-AGE-INFO (1-800-243-4636).

PRIVATE PAY CONTRACTS

People with financial resources may pay using their own resources for a stay in either a nursing or rest home. An individual signs a contract specifying services they would receive in exchange for payment. The Attorney General Regulations in Massachusetts (940 CMR 4.00 – 4.11) detail protections for consumers in long term care facilities.

It is critical for someone paying privately to review their admission contract before signing it. The individual may also be required to disclose information about their financial status if they are paying privately.

INSURANCE PLANS

If someone has private insurance, review the policy carefully to determine if and for how long a stay in a nursing home may be covered. The Massachusetts Division of Insurance provides detailed information about insurance coverage in long term care contact them directly by calling (617) 521-7794.

VETERAN'S BENEFITS

The Veteran's Administration (VA) provides limited nursing and rest home services to veterans through three programs: VA owned and operated nursing homes, state veterans' homes owned and operated by the state, and the community nursing home program. Each program has admission and eligibility criteria specific to the program. To find out if an individual is eligible for assistance, locate your city/town's Veterans Agent through the Massachusetts Department of Veterans' Services, www.mass.gov/veterans or at (617) 210-5480; the VA at: 1-877-222-VETS (8387) or through their website, www.va.gov .

MEDICARE

Administered by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), Medicare is a federal health insurance program available to people with certain disabilities or who are aged 65 or older and eligible for Social Security or Railroad Retirement Benefits.

Medicare covers a LIMITED stay in a nursing home for skilled care when it is determined that the individual requires daily skilled nursing or rehabilitation services (such as wound care, injections, physical therapy, and so on) AND following a three day hospital stay for a related illness or injury.

During a benefit period, Medicare pays for all covered services in a nursing home for one to 20 days, at a pre-determined rate in a semi-private room. For day 21 to a maximum of 100 days, Medicare pays for covered services except for a co-pay that is recalculated annually. (In 2018, it is $ 167.50 per day). Individuals may carry supplemental Medicare insurance that covers some or all of the co-pay, sometimes called "Medigap" plans.

If it is determined that the individual no longer requires skilled assistance prior to the maximum number of 100 days, coverage stops at that time. If an individual disagrees with a Medicare decision, they may appeal the Medicare determination. For assistance with Medicare appeals contact Livanta, 1-866-815-5440.

For information about Medicare contact CMS at 1-800-MEDICARE or 1-800-633-4227 or www.medicare.gov .

MEDICAID/MassHealth

Medicaid is a joint federal and state medical assistance program based on financial need that is administered in Massachusetts by the Division of Medical Assistance. In Massachusetts the Medicaid program, called MassHealth, provides coverage in a nursing home if an individual meets financial and other qualifying criteria.

Financially, an individual may have no more than $2,000 countable assets. If an individual has a spouse who remains in the community, the spouse at home is allowed to retain an amount of the combined countable assets and also a spousal allowance from their combined incomes.

In addition, the individual must be assessed and determined to need long term care services provided in a nursing home setting.

An individual on MassHealth in a nursing home is required to pay the home a Patient Paid Amount (PPA) out of their monthly income for their stay, less a Personal Needs Allowance (PNA), which in 2018, is $72.80 per month. The PNA is for a resident to use for items not available at the home, such as clothing, hair styling or a favorite lotion. The home cannot charge personal laundry costs to the PNA.

The Nursing Home Reform Act (also known as OBRA, CFR 483) specifically prohibits discrimination in treatment of residents and protects residents from fraudulent activities during admission. The home must have identical policies and practices regarding the provision of services, regardless of the source of payment. The home must not require another person to guarantee payment as a condition of admission or continued stay.

To apply for MassHealth, apply through a Regional MassHealth Enrollment Center. Information and applications are available at: MassHealth Enrollment Centers: 1-800-841-2900 or 1-888-665-9993. Website: www.mass.gov/masshealth .

SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME/SSI

SSI is a federal financial assistance program administered by the Social Security Administration. Qualified individuals may utilize SSI to pay for a stay in a REST HOME. Among other things, an applicant must meet age (65 or over) and/or disability criteria. Financially, a qualified applicant may not have more than $2,000 in countable assets, and if married, a couple may not have more than $3,000 in assets. In addition, the monthly income levels must be less than the SSI payment standard, recalculated annually.

People on SSI receive a personal needs allowance (PNA) to use for items not available at the home. SSI recipients are also automatically eligible for Medicaid to cover medical expenses.

To apply for SSI, contact the local Social Security Office, 1-800-772-1213. Website: www.ssa.gov .

FINDING THE RIGHT LONG-TERM CARE HOME

A nursing or rest home is not merely a temporary residence but a permanent home. Therefore, good care includes not only providing care with dignity and respect, but also dietary services that provide appetizing and nutritious meals, housekeeping services that keep physical surroundings pleasant and planned activities that foster social interaction.

When you begin your search for a long-term care home, it is important to judge the opportunities for personal growth and choice for the individual as well as the care that is provided.

Compiling a list of homes that fit the needs and preferences of the individual is a good place to start the selection process. The Long Term Care Ombudsman program provides guidance to what homes are in the area and what basic services each home provides. While Ombudsmen do not rate facilities, they will help sort out the information and assist you in making your decision. A list of all the Ombudsman programs is included in this guide.

The state inspection and nursing home satisfaction survey results, as well as the CMS Nursing Home Compare information provide some initial information regarding a home's ability to provide care and should be considered when compiling a list of potential homes.

The most recent state information can be found at <http://webapps.ehs.state.ma.us/nursehome/> and the CMS Nursing Home Compare site, www.medicare.gov/nhcompare/ .

WHEN SHOULD I VISIT A HOME?

Try to visit the potential home more than once and at different times of the day. One visit should be late morning or midday to observe the noon meal being served. Another visit should be in the afternoon to observe activities. Plan to spend at least one hour at each visit. If at all possible, take the individual to visit nursing or rest homes before a decision is made.

Make an appointment to meet with the administrator the first time you visit the facility. Following a guided tour, it is wise to talk to residents and observe conditions by yourself without facility staff present. To help you during the visit, a checklist is included in this guide on page 18.

When visiting a home, look at resident rooms, activity space and the dining area. Observe how comfortable residents appear in their home. Residents have the right to choose special foods, activities, clothing and room decorations. In addition, residents have the right to exercise choice about meal and bed times. These enhance an individual's sense of personal control and foster a sense of well-being.

A resident should have opportunities to engage in religious, political, civic, recreational or other social activities to promote independence. Privacy (for medical treatment, visits with family and friends, and personal solitude) contributes to self-esteem.

Staff attitudes are also critical to quality of life and care in a nursing or rest home. Polite, patient staff that anticipate the residents' needs add tremendously to the residents' comfort. Interaction with staff should provide a supportive environment conducive to independence and mutual respect. You can observe the interaction between residents and staff when you tour the home.

While the family's role changes when an individual is admitted to a nursing home, family contact remains just as important. Their continued care, support, love and involvement is absolutely key. A good way to help staff to get to know the resident is to share details in writing about the resident's likes, dislikes, and daily routines. Family members should visit frequently and encourage others to visit.

Attending quarterly care plan meetings for the resident are a good way to advocate for individualized care and address concerns about the resident's care.

Finally, remember the Long Term Care Ombudsman is available to all long term care residents to ensure their rights are respected.

Prospective Nursing or Rest Home Checklist

Try to visit each potential home more than once, taking time to observe as well as speak with residents, family members and staff to get a full understanding of life in the home. The following questions are things to consider when visiting potential nursing or rest homes.

- How does staff help new residents adjust to their new home?
- Are there any resident centered care practices at the home (A more social-based, home-like care model for long term care, focusing on resident choice and relationships, often called Culture Change)?
- How does the staff encourage residents to make choices regarding their life at the home?
 - Do resident rooms reflect the individuality of the occupants?
 - What are some examples of how the staff ensures a resident receives individualized care?
 - Do residents follow their own schedules for waking, sleeping, bathing, etc?
 - Is the resident's and family's opinions valued?
- How does the staff ensure resident and family participation in care plan meetings?
- Does the primary CNA go to his/her residents' care plan meetings?
- What practices are in place to ensure that individual opinions are heard?

- Is there cheerful, respectful, pleasant and warm interaction between staff and residents?
- Does the staff respond quickly to resident calls?
- Does the home assign Aides (CNA's), to work with the same group of residents consistently, day in and day out?
- How are residents involved in planning activities?
- Are residents engaged in meaningful activities by themselves or with others?
- How do residents remain connected to their communities?
- What kinds of input do the residents have regarding meals at the home?
 - Do residents participate in a food committee?
 - Is there a flexible dining schedule? How does it work?
 - Do residents who need assistance eating receive it?
 - Does the food appear and smell appetizing?
 - Are there a variety of snacks always available to residents?
 - What accommodations are made for special diets?
