MAURA T. HEALEY
GOVERNOR

KIMBERLEY DRISCOLL
LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

April 16, 2026

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

In November 2024, you enacted and I signed a law designed to keep the Massachusetts economy strong and competitive in a rapidly changing world. That statute, Mass Leads, provided nearly $4 billion in capital authorizations for investments in key sectors and established other policy changes intended to help businesses grow and people succeed. Team Massachusetts, led by Secretary of Economic Development Eric Paley, has been hard at work implementing those programs for the last year and a half. That work is helping Massachusetts maintain its status as a global hub for higher education, research and development, and technological innovation.

The world has changed dramatically since Mass Leads became law in November 2024. We now have a federal government implementing policies that undermine higher education and research, putting our innovation economy at risk. That same federal government is pursuing policies that have introduced unprecedented uncertainty into the global economy and have exacerbated the affordability crisis we are feeling here in Massachusetts, just like everyone else around the country. And misguided federal policies are making it harder to attract and retain global talent to our state.

Today, I am filing for your consideration a bill that will help address these new challenges: An Act Relative to Massachusetts Winning Global Investment, Talent, and Innovation (“Mass Wins”). This bill builds on Mass Leads, providing limited new capital authorizations totaling $305 million to ensure we can support key sectors such as defense, applied AI, robotics, quantum and others. I am also including new authorizations for investments in our downtowns and main streets to help our smaller businesses and the residents who support them. To ensure we are maintaining fiscal responsibility, we are proposing to remove more than $250 million of existing authorizations.

The bill proposes several policy changes and new initiatives that will help businesses, entrepreneurs and employees, as well as cities and towns. One of the most important is a new initiative called “GlobalMass.” As the federal government turns its back on global partners and puts up new barriers to global trade, Massachusetts is uniquely positioned to attract and retain global investment and talent. Massachusetts is viewed as one of the world’s leading innovation economies and we must continue to welcome opportunity from across the globe. I am asking Secretary Paley to implement GlobalMass to encourage global investment in Massachusetts and help international companies establish a footprint here. In addition to the modest capital authorization to support global launchpads—sites where global companies can begin to make their future in Massachusetts—the bill directs the state’s Pension Reserves Investment Management Board to provide seed investment of at least $50 million for a new fund designed to attract global institutional capital to fuel the Massachusetts innovation economy.

This bill will also make it easier to start a business in Massachusetts. For too long, we have had the highest fees of any state for establishing a new Limited Liability Company (LLC). This fee structure has a disproportionate impact on entrepreneurs from disadvantaged communities, who are less likely to have access to upfront capital and may find it hard to pay a $500 filing fee on top of all the other costs of starting a small business. It is time to change that. This bill proposes reducing the initial filing fee from $500 to $100, and then gradually increase the annual filing fee over the first few years of a new entity’s existence. The lowered fees will apply only to the new businesses that need the help, not to LLCs formed to hold real estate or that otherwise have significant assets. This long-overdue update sends a strong signal that Massachusetts embraces entrepreneurship and is committed to making it easier to start a business.

We also know that small businesses are facing rising costs on all fronts, including on materials and energy. We are going to help by expanding eligibility for the existing small business energy tax exemption. The eligibility thresholds have not been updated since 2006. If my proposal is enacted, the energy tax exemption will be available to approximately 20,000 additional micro- and small businesses.

Retaining talent is another of my top priorities. It is clear we need to do more to keep the young people who come from all over the country and around the world to study at our colleges and universities. Mass Leads created a new tax credit for businesses that increase the number of internships offered to young people looking to start their career in Massachusetts. Unfortunately, we have not been able to make this tax credit available because it was tied to a revenue surplus that has not materialized. But we can’t wait any longer. This bill includes a provision to make the tax credit available starting in 2027.

The bill will also benefit workers by closing a loophole in our laws on noncompetition agreements, ensuring workers get fair compensation during the period when they are prohibited from working. Allowing workers to move from one opportunity to another with fewer restrictions—while also allowing employers to enforce non-competes when they need to—isn’t just a matter of basic fairness. It will help Massachusetts retain entrepreneurs who might otherwise start their business in a state where noncompetition agreements are restricted or banned.

We also know that high housing costs are contributing to our affordability crisis. During the past two years, we have made meaningful progress in addressing a housing shortage that has resulted from decades of under-production. This bill includes a number of provisions that will make it easier to build new housing. One provision will allow cities and towns to opt in to new rules that make it easier to convert commercial property to residential use. Another will clarify that the Board of Building Regulation and Standards can provide variances from the strictest of our nation-leading energy codes when relief is warranted. The bill will also codify the rules for local site plan approval to ensure more predictability for the housing and commercial uses that go through that process and authorize mayors of cities to propose changes to their city's zoning ordinances. I am also proposing to reform the way zoning changes are made in Devens to ensure the community's zoning bylaws can be amended in a timely way and enable the meaningful participation of Devens residents as well as surrounding municipalities.

The bill includes several provisions to help Secretary Paley and his team support business expansion in the state and attract companies to Massachusetts. Many of the states with which we compete allow their utility companies to offer discounted electricity rates. This bill will give Massachusetts the same tool, provided that the Department of Public Utilities determines the discounted rates will not increase costs for other ratepayers. I am also proposing several technical changes to our various business tax credit programs to make them more effective.

Finally, the bill includes a number of other changes to the law that will make it easier to do business and get things done: for example, by advancing electric grid innovation and deployment; requiring state licensing boards to waive redundant English proficiency testing for nurses; clarifying the kinds of entities that must be licensed as ticket sellers; allowing municipalities to pay for utility make-ready work consistent with standard industry practice; and reducing the burdens for licensed engineers to qualify for home inspector licensure.

These are just some of the key elements of this bill. Taken together, they reflect a focused effort to strengthen Massachusetts' competitiveness, support businesses and workers, and respond to a rapidly changing economic landscape at a time when federal actions are creating new uncertainty and putting our innovation economy at risk. We cannot afford to wait. I look forward to working with you to get this bill passed before the end of session.

Respectfully Submitted,

Maura T. Healey
Governor

Performance standards must be reasonably definite and objective so that any petitioner has knowledge of such standards prior to application submittal. No zoning by-law or ordinance may include performance standards governing the aesthetics of structures. The designated authority may, where such action is in the public interest and not inconsistent with the intent and purpose of this section, waive strict compliance with the performance standards for site plan review. The designated authority may adopt, and from time to time amend, written procedural rules and regulations to implement the local site plan review ordinance or by-law, including provisions for the imposition of reasonable fees for the employment of outside consultants in the same manner as set forth in section 53G of chapter 44.

The ordinance or by-law may establish the designated authority to be the building commissioner, director of planning or other municipal official who coordinates administrative site plan review with other municipal employees, in which instance there shall be no vote requirement for site plan review. Any appeal from administrative site plan review shall be in accordance with section 17 unless an ordinance or by-law first provides for an appeal to another public body of the Failure by the designated authority to take final action within said 90 days or extended time, if applicable, shall be deemed to be an approval of the site plan. The petitioner who seeks such approval by reason of the failure of the designated authority to act within such time prescribed, shall notify the city or town clerk, in writing within 14 days from the expiration of said 90 days or extended time, if applicable, of such approval. If site plan review required a public hearing, the petitioner shall send such notice to parties in interest designated in section 11 by mail and each such notice shall specify that appeals, if any, shall be made pursuant to section 17 and shall be filed within 20 days after the date the city or town clerk received such written notice from the petitioner that the designated authority failed to act within the time prescribed. After the expiration of 20 days without notice of appeal pursuant to section 17, or, if appeal has been taken, after receipt of certified records of the court in which such appeal is adjudicated, indicating that such approval has become final, the city or town clerk shall issue a certificate stating the date of approval, the fact that the designated authority failed to take final action and that the approval resulting from such failure has become final, and such certificate shall be forwarded to the petitioner.

(g) A site plan approval granted under this section shall lapse within a specified period of time, not less than 3 years from the date of the filing of such approval with the city or town clerk, if substantial use or construction has not yet begun, except as extended for good cause by the designated authority. Such specified period shall not include time required to pursue or await the
