- Entrepreneurship and Start-Up Support - We see entrepreneur mentoring (often found within collaborative workspaces) as a means to build and support strategies that help create the conditions for growth within regional entrepreneurship ecosystems.
- Cluster Development - Using industry clusters as an organizing concept the Innovation Institute continuously concentrates its support on growth conditions for emerging clusters. FY19 priority clusters include: Cybersecurity, Robotics and the Internet of Things (IoT).

The Innovation Institute also produces and publishes the Annual Index of the Massachusetts Innovation Economy, the Commonwealth's tool for benchmarking the status and progress of our innovation economy. Since 1997, the Index has provided users with a wealth of data and information for assessing the performance and progress of the Commonwealth's innovation sectors. Through an analysis of 22 economic indicators, the Index offers a comprehensive view of several dimensions of the innovation ecosystem.

Through a contract with the Executive Office of Housing and Economic Development's Seaport Economic Council, the Innovation Institute also supports grand challenges that leverage the Internet of Things (IoT) to support and enhance competitiveness of the Commonwealth's Blue Economy.

The Innovation Institute supports entrepreneur mentoring as means to build regional start-up ecosystems and communities of innovation across Massachusetts. The opportunity to engage in a strong mentoring relationship builds the confidence and success of new businesses and plays a crucial role in lowering the barriers to entry for owning and running a business. In addition to the impact they have on individual entrepreneurs, mentors are a key part of a healthy entrepreneurship ecosystem, both inspiring new business leaders through their example and bringing needed expertise on the business development process. The Innovation Institute sees entrepreneur mentoring as a means to build, driving the development of a new phase in support for strategies to help create the conditions for growth.
