

POLLINATORS & PLANTS

Do you know how important honey bees and other pollinators are? Without them, we wouldn't have honey, apples, and the many other fruits and vegetables that we need to stay healthy.

LOOKING FOR LOCAL HONEY?

Bee-come a pollinator hero today! Every small step can make a big difference in cultivating a stronger native environment.

GROWING WILD

“Growing Wild” for pollinators is a state program to enhance outdoor spaces in a way that benefits pollinators and the environment. We encourage the public to plant pollinator gardens, wildflower meadows, and convert lawns into low-mow zones all to improve bio-diversity with native plants!
