Structure of Job Titles

Overview

MOSES uses the Department of Labor O*Net Job Titles to match job seekers to job order requirements and for identifying customer occupations in their work history.

These matched directly to the old SOC (Standardized Occupational Classification) codes formerly used by the Department of Labor.

The task of selecting the correct job title is now more difficult because there are so few to choose from. This is a critical issue, as a match will not occur if the staff person creating a job order and the staff person setting up the job seeker's match criteria use a slightly different title.

You enter Job Titles in the Job Order and in the Match Criteria. (As well as the Job Seeker work history.)

The Job Title does not appear in any of the job descriptions or resume documents that the system generates to be used by employers or job seekers.

It is possible for the employer to use his own job titles that may not match the Job Title. It should be noted that the associated codes are used internally in MOSES and are normally not visible to the user.

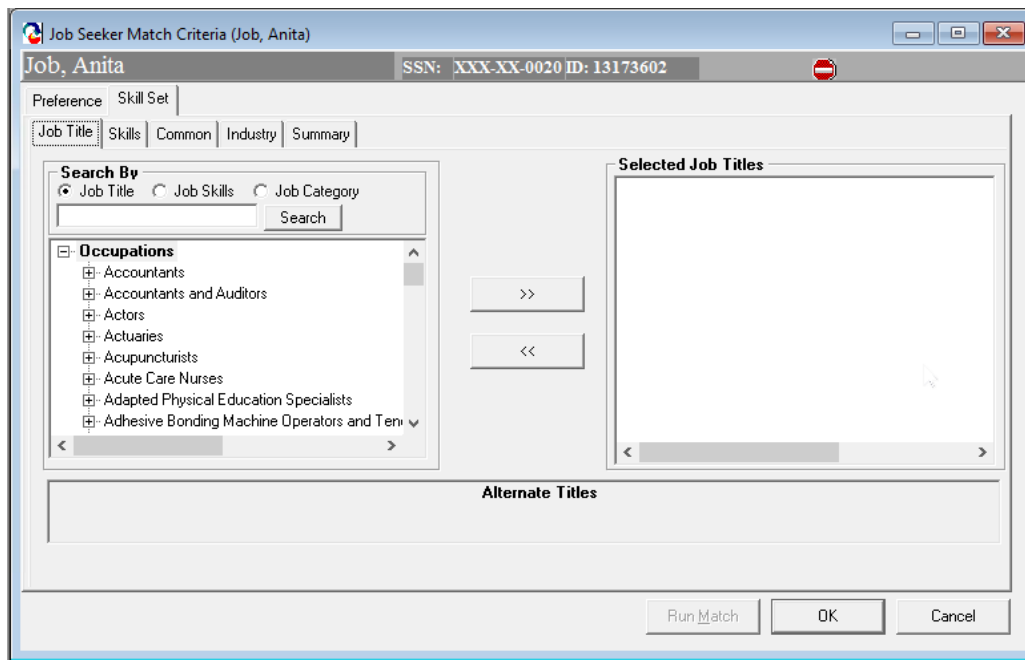

The basic steps for using Job Titles, when creating a new job order or when completing the Match Criteria for a job seeker, are described in the MOSES Manuals.

The purpose of this appendix is to provide a more detailed look at the Job Titles available.

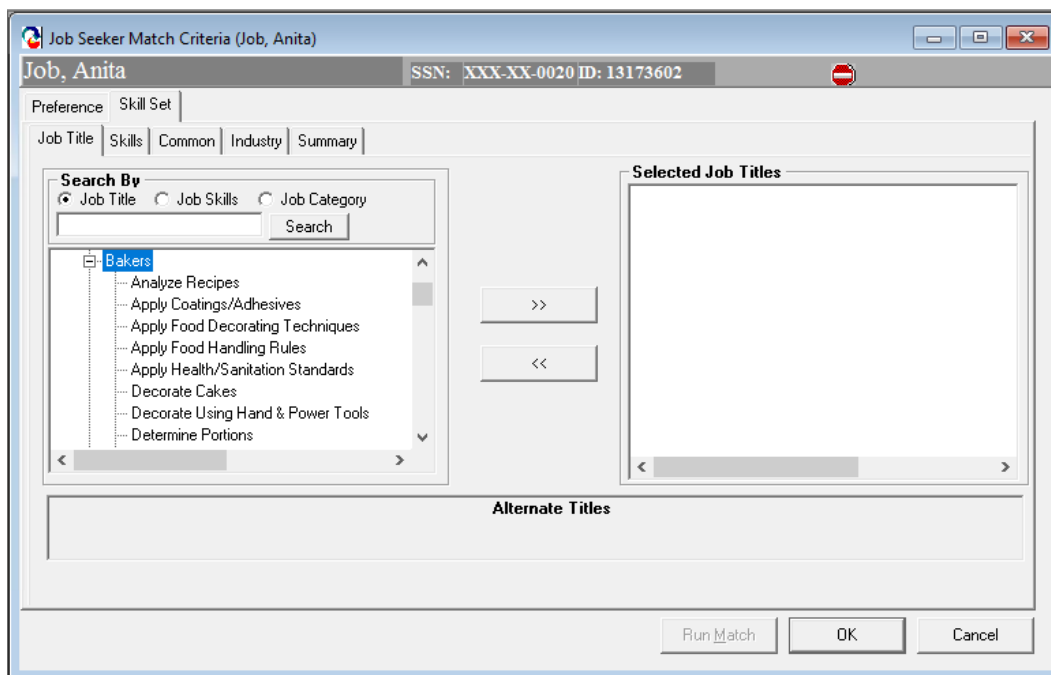

MOSES Interface for Selecting Job Titles

(In Job Seeker – Job Match criteria)

If you click the Job Title radio button, the Occupations are marked by the plus sign.

If you click on the plus sign, the list expands to also show the job skills normally associated with each Job Title.

If you click the Job Skills radio button, the list changes to show the skills marked by the plus sign.

If you click on the plus sign, the list expands to also show the Job Title / Occupation normally associated with each skill.

Searching for a Job Title / Occupation is a little like using a search engine on the internet. The search engine results pages (SERPs) can and will give you a diverse and assorted list of results.

If you do an online search for Teaching occupations you will get back everything from Adult & Continuing Education teachers to Art Teachers to Elementary School teachers and more.

Sometimes you have to search more than once and use different keywords to achieve success in your search.

Here are a few examples.

| Job Title | Search By | Result |
|-------------------------|-------------------------|--|
| Mailman | Mail | Postal Service Mail Carriers |
| Garbage Collector | Refuse | Refuse and Recyclable Materials Collectors |
| Beautician | Hair | Hairdressers, Stylists, and Cosmetologists |
| Building Inspector | Inspect | Construction and Building Inspectors |

Tips for looking up job titles:

Just type in three to seven letters of the title.

If you can't find the job title through searching the list of job titles, use a skill.

For instance, cooks, bakers, and chefs all need to measure.

Think like a detective to uncover the right job title.

If you are having difficulty it is recommended that you do an online search for the occupation / job title and add ONET in the key word search criteria.

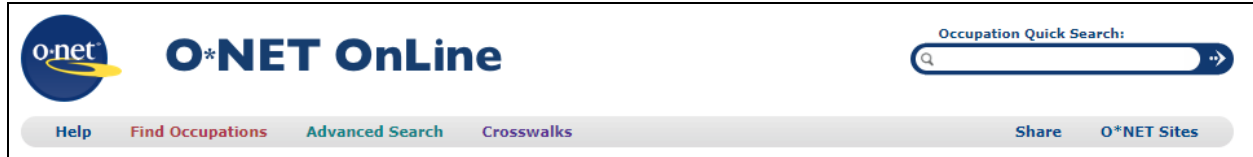

For Example, a Brewer ONET search will yield a Food Scientist, as the occupation code.

The screenshot shows the O*NET Online search interface. At the top, there is a search bar with the text "Occupation Quick Search:" and a magnifying glass icon. Below the search bar, there are navigation links: "Help", "Find Occupations", "Advanced Search", "Crosswalks", "Share", and "O*NET Sites". The main heading is "Quick Search for: BREWER". Below this, it says "Showing 13 occupations for BREWER. Closest matches are shown first." A table lists the results with columns for "How do they match?", "Code", and "Occupation". The table contains 13 rows of data, each with a code and an occupation name, some with additional icons or text.

| How do they match? | Code | Occupation |
|--------------------|------------|---|
| | 51-3092.00 | Food Batchmakers |

ONET OnLine is an excellent resource. Its URL is: <https://www.onetonline.org/>

Use the Occupation Quick Search box to find relevant occupations.

For example, a search for Television occupations yields this:

This screenshot shows the search results page on O*NET OnLine for the query "television". The page header is identical to the previous screenshot. Below the header, the text "Quick Search for: television" is displayed. Underneath, it says "Showing top 20 occupations for television. Closest matches are shown first." A table follows, listing 20 occupations with their codes and titles. The first result, "Camera Operators, Television, Video, and Film", is highlighted with a yellow star and the text "Bright Outlook".
