- HandUp is the only mattress recycler, in MA, that resells mattresses, each of which keeps 100% of the weight of the mattress out of landfills
- In 2023, HandUp sold over 2,000 mattresses and box springs to give many more good nights of sleep

- We processed over 63,000 mattresses and box springs
- We recycled over 1,350 tons (2.6M lbs.) of steel, wood, foam, and cotton scraps with 78% of the weight of all units received recycled
- We count over 140 active customers that range from towns and municipalities, trash haulers, junk haulers, transfer stations, retailers, universities, hotels, and apartment complexes.
- We donated over $120K in cash and $30K in product to area non-profits working with immigrants and refugees

MassDEP Support

Over the past 2 years HandUp has been fortunate to receive 3 RBDG Grants, from MassDEP, to purchase:

Steel Compactor

Pocket Coil Deconstructor

Box Truck

Takeaway: These grants have been critical to our ability to scale the business to meet growing mattress recycling needs in the

MassDEP Support - CASE STUDY

Steel Compactor

Takeaway: Prior to the steel compactor, we sent loose springs and filled a 70-yard container every day (+/-6K lbs.) and lost around $150/load due to low weight and trucking charges.

Now we fill 70-yard container once a week (+/-26K lbs.) and are paid around $2,300/load

This has resulted in a $12K/mo. positive change to operations

What's Ahead?

Initiatives:

- Beginning to ship mattresses, via mail, anywhere in the U.S.
- New mattress resale shop to be located in the North End of New Bedford
- Renewing participation as MassDEP FAC90 mattress recycler to continue to offer mattress recycling and pickup services to MA municipalities

Challenges:

- Downstream market for foam and cotton scraps has collapsed
- Proposed Mattress Recycling EPR legislation does not reflect MA market realities
