

Named for the Nipmuc Indian word meaning “meeting of many waters,” Quabbin is one of the largest man-made drinking water reservoirs in the United States. Created in the 1930s by the construction of Winsor Dam and Goodnough Dike, the reservoir is still one of the largest unfiltered water supplies in the world and remains a remarkable feat of engineering.

Once the site of the towns of Dana, Prescott, Enfield, and Greenwich, the Swift River Valley was stripped of homes and businesses, a state highway, railroad line, and 34 cemeteries during reservoir construction. Ultimately, 2,500 people were removed from the valley to make way for the reservoir.

Today about two-thirds of the Swift River watershed is owned by the Commonwealth and managed by the DCR’s Division of Water Supply Protection (DCR/DWSP). Fed by the three branches of the Swift, and seasonally by the Ware River, the reservoir is 18 miles long with 181 miles of shoreline, a capacity of 412 billion gallons and covers 25,000 acres when full. In order to meet the mandate to “utilize and conserve said water and other natural resources...and to assure the availability of pure water for future generations,” DCR/DWSP manages 56,000 acres of protected watershed land surrounding the reservoir for drinking water quality purposes by maintaining a healthy and diverse forest cover. On average, the reservoir collects one-half of the water that falls as rain or snow in the watershed area. Besides providing the principal supply of pure drinking water for 51 communities and 2.5 million residents of Massachusetts, Quabbin also offers a unique site for important scientific research on water quality, forestry, and wildlife topics.

Quabbin Reservoir Fishing Guide

Welcome to Quabbin Reservoir, the principal drinking water supply for 2.5 million Massachusetts residents. Since 1946, shore fishing has been allowed at the reservoir, and since 1952 a limited boat fishing program has been in existence. Please help preserve your fishing privileges and protect Quabbin's resources by following all rules and regulations.

All private boats launched on the reservoir must now have an intact Quabbin Boat Seal that certifies the craft has gone through a DCR approved decontamination process. Seals must be intact when the boats are inspected by Boat Launch Area attendants prior to launching. For the schedule of boat inspections/cleanings, visit www.mass.gov/dcr/quabbinfish. Call the Quabbin Visitor Center at (413) 323-7221 to make an appointment.

The 2019 Quabbin Fishing Season runs from April 20 to October 19, conditions permitting. Boat Launch Areas are open seven days a week from 6:00 a.m. until closing. Closing times vary throughout the season as sunset times change and are listed under "Hours of Operation" in the "Boating Information" section. The closing and boats off the water times are prominently posted at the Boat Launch Areas as well. Daytime shore fishing is open seven days a week for the season.

Fishing Licenses

- All persons over 15 years of age must have a valid MA Fishing/Sporting License or a Quabbin Fishing License.
- One-day Quabbin Fishing Licenses are available for purchase at the boat launch areas and the MassWildlife website for $5.00.
- Quabbin Fishing Licenses are limited to the designated shore and boat fishing areas on Quabbin Reservoir during the Quabbin Fishing Season.

Security Issues

- Notify officials if anything seems out of the ordinary.
- Report violations of DCR Regulations, suspicious activities or abnormal environmental conditions to DCR Watershed Rangers or the MA State Police.
- Boat Launch Area attendants monitor Marine Band Radio Channel 16 on a routine basis.
- National security conditions may require the temporary closure of the watershed to all public access.
- Notices will be posted at all access points if closure is necessary.

Fishing Facts

Quabbin's fishery is comprised of both coldwater species (trout and salmon) and warm water species (bass, pickerel, perch, and bullhead). Most of the deep coldwater species occur on Quabbin's west arm, accessible from Gate #8 (Boat Launch Area #1). Deep water fishing is also available on the main part of the reservoir, but Gate #31 (Area #2) and Gate #43 (Area #3) also provide access to shallower waters which are better for warm water fishing.

Quabbin Loons & Eagles

Quabbin Reservoir is one of the few places in Massachusetts where Common Loons and Bald Eagles are known to consistently nest. These birds can easily be disturbed during the nesting season and many abandon their nests if approached too closely. Loons as well as eagles can become entangled in monofilament fishing line and wire leaders. Line and leaders have been found in Quabbin Bald Eagle nests and could kill young eagles. To protect these special birds, please obey the following:

- Dispose of fishing line and sinkers properly. There is a Fishing Line Recycling receptacle at each boat launch area as well as in many locations around the reservoir.
- The use of any lead fishing sinkers and lead jigs weighing less than 1 ounce is now prohibited in all Massachusetts inland waters (freshwater). There is a Lead Recycling Receptacle at each boat launch area as well as in many locations around the reservoir. We encourage the use of non-toxic weights, sinkers and jigs instead of lead.
- Boat beaching is for rest room facility use only. Ten-minute limit per boat.
- Stay well away from loon and eagle nest sites and loons with chicks.
- Steer boats away from swimming loons or perched eagles.
- Respect "Wildlife Research Areas" posted with signs or marked with red buoys.
- Read and obey notices posted at Boat Launch Areas.
- State and federal laws protecting loons and eagles are strictly enforced.

For further information on Fishing Sinker, Weight and Jig Regulations, please refer to the notices posted at Boat Launch Areas information boards or the Massachusetts freshwater fishing regulations website: www.mass.gov/guides/massachusetts-freshwater-fishing-regulations.

- Water test results indicate that mercury has not affected the drinking water and levels are well below federal drinking water standards..

Consult the complete fishing advisory posted on the bulletin boards at the boat launch areas, ask the attendant for further information, or visit www.mass.gov/dph/fishadvisories.

Prevent the Spread of Aquatic Invasive Species

Aquatic invasive species can be spread from one water body to another in boats and trailers, and on fishing equipment. These aggressive invasive species displace local plants and animals, negatively impacting local ecosystems, water quality, and fishing. To minimize the spread of these species please take these precautionary steps:

- Clean your equipment of any plant fragments or mud or debris before transporting.
- Dispose of material far away from water bodies.
- Eliminate water from equipment before transporting.
- Never release plants, fish or animals into a body of water unless they came from that water body.
- All boats launched at Quabbin Reservoir must have an intact Quabbin Boat Seal upon arrival. The boat is resealed to the trailer by the Boat Launch Attendant upon removal from the reservoir.
