

In the Solar Carve-out program, my understanding was that to make carbon reduction/environmental claims a solar owner must have RECs/SRECs in their possession. Say a college installs solar panels under the new SMART program and wants to legally claim that the college is reducing their carbon footprint, how will this new program address making environmental claims related to solar panel production since SRECs are no longer a part of this program?