Community Partnerships

The primary reasons for my participation in today's program:

Creating and Building Community Partnerships

Creating a solid communication path to better emergency planning. What is your community doing to prepare?

How may the community help our organization with emergency preparedness and response?

The primary reasons for my participation in today's program are:

1. To build a partnership and, most important, a relationship with your organization-to bring emergency planning to life.
2. To provide an additional communication link-and tool-between you and the City of Taunton (reach out to others).
3. To share emergency preparedness and planning ideas.

Direct Text Notifications

We employ a number of information tools to keep our community partners and the community in the know:

Community Communication Link

We provide an additional communication link between your organization and the City of Taunton, but we encourage your organization to reach out to other agencies who could play an important role in your planning and exercise process.

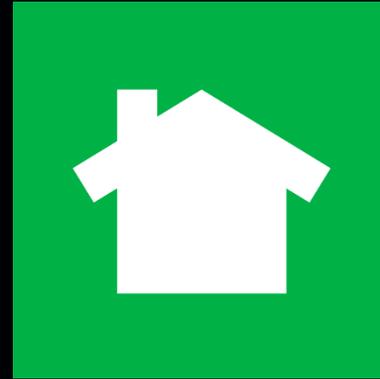

E-Mail Notifications to Administration

E-Mail notifications of significant community events and weather forecasts to provide the most accurate information to help with making more informed decisions for your facility.
