

Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Children & Families (DCF)
Child Welfare Institute (CWI) Training Plan
2025-2029

May 30, 2025

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Children and Families Training Plan outlines the anticipated training and professional development programs for the next five fiscal years. The Department employs a hybrid model of staff training, incorporating in-person learning, instructor-led online sessions, and e-learning.

This new Child Welfare Institute (CWI) Training Plan replaces previous versions. The primary goal of the CWI is to promote effective child welfare practices. CWI activities aim to enhance social workers' knowledge and skills, improve supervision quality, and foster an agency environment that supports creativity and professional growth. CWI is dedicated to advancing the Department's strategic goals and objectives.

The CWI is responsible for providing training and professional development opportunities to approximately 4,200 agency staff.

Cost allocation methodology for claiming training

The cost allocation methodology indicated below is based upon the subject matter of each training course, the length of each course, the salary of each participant, non-salary expenses, and the CAP code for each participant or expense.

(1) Identify training topics allowable at varying percentages (0%, 50%, or 75%).

(2) Calculate salary expenses associated with allowable trainings.

- a. For each training course, produce a list with DCF participant (trainer or attendee) names, duration in hours, and date of training.
- b. For each DCF participant, calculate percentage of their time spent in allowable trainings.
- c. For each DCF participant, based on that percentage, calculate percentage of their salary in the claiming period spent and identify salary expenses for allowable training hours.
- d. Sum the training time salary in each CAP cost pool.
- e. Transfer identified training time salary from the dollars in each CAP cost pool to the appropriate Training (50% or 75%) cost pool.

(3) Calculate non-salary expenses associated with allowable trainings.

- a. Transfer identified expenses from the dollars in each CAP cost pool to the appropriate training (50% or 75%) cost pool.

FFY 2025-2029 DCF Training Plan Department of Children and Families Child Welfare Institute

This training plan is submitted in compliance with intersecting federal laws, regulations, and Program Instructions (ACYF-CB-PI-24-02; 45 CFR 1356.60(b); 45 CFR 1357.15(t)(1); and 45 CFR 235.60-235.66). It outlines the planned training activities for DCF to achieve excellence in staff development in child welfare practice. The allocation descriptions reflect the claiming mechanisms required by Title IV-E for enhanced federal financial participation.

The coursework and program details are organized according to the requirements specified in ACYF-CB-PI-24-02. The key on page 5 explains the labels used in this section, where each row's label represents a shortened version of a corresponding federal requirement.

Key:

DCF State Plan Label	Federal Requirement
“Training Description”	A brief, one paragraph syllabus of the training activity
“Admin Function”	Indication of the specifically allowable Title IV-E administrative functions the training activity addresses (45 CFR 1356.60 (c) (2) (I- x))
“Venue”	Indication of the setting/venue for the training activity
“Duration”	Indication of the duration category of the training activity (i.e. short-term, long-term, part-time, full-time) (45 CFR 235.63-235.66 (a))
“Provider”	Indication of the proposed provider of the training activity
“Days” and “Hours”	Specification of the approximate number of days/hours of the training activity
“Audience”	Indication of the audience to receive the training
“Cost”	Description of the estimated total cost
“Allocation”	Cost Allocation Methodology (45 CFR 1356.60; SEC. 474 (3) (A-B))
Training Criteria	Identification of % of overall training time spent on: 1. 75% FFP topic areas, 2. 50% FFP topic areas, and 3. 0% FFP topic areas

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Framed by the agency's overarching priorities and practice expectations, the Massachusetts Child Welfare Institute (CWI) has developed and implemented a series of highly regarded programs. These initiatives promote continuous learning and professional identity for child welfare social workers, supervisors, and managers at the Department of Children and Families (DCF), enhancing organizational effectiveness through:

- Core Practice Values: Continuous learning is integral to professional growth and organizational improvement.
- Expert Staff: CWI's team comprises dedicated, highly experienced, and credentialed child welfare practitioners and innovative learning facilitators.
- Experienced Workforce: The agency benefits from a highly educated and experienced workforce with low turnover rates, fostering deep knowledge and practical experience.
- Learner-Centered Curriculum: CWI's approach to curriculum design and training development is centered on learners and based on practice.
- Policy Change Initiatives: CWI contributes to the planning and implementation of policy changes.
- Licensure Support: CWI supports DCF staff in becoming licensed social workers, with 99% currently holding licenses.
- Evolving Training Programs: Professional development opportunities include MSW fellowships, post-master's clinical certificate programs, in-service training, conferences, and orientation for new staff.
- Succession Planning and Leadership: Staff training and development are crucial for effective succession planning and leadership cultivation.
- Dedicated Budget and Facilities: CWI has a specific budget allocation and operates a statewide training center, providing a permanent space for professional learning.

The Department has continuously expanded, diversified, and revised its training and professional development programs, including:

- New Social Worker Preservice Training (NSWPT): Continuously revised to meet current needs.
- Supervisor Professional Development Program: Evolved to enhance supervisory skills.
- Facilitative Child Welfare Supervisor Framework: Created to support effective supervision.

All programs are developed with input from agency leadership, Continuous Quality Improvement activities, policy and programmatic changes, practice specialist committees, field advisory groups, training evaluations, and feedback from training events, ensuring relevance and effectiveness.

CWI training and professional development programs aim to:

- Enhance the capacity, competency, and confidence of social workers, supervisors, and managers in child welfare practice.
- Improve safety, permanency, and well-being outcomes for children and families.
- Promote continuous learning as essential for professional growth, identity, and advancement within the agency.

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

CWI is responsible for the training and professional growth of approximately 4,200 staff members, offering varied learning programs including:

- New Social Worker Preservice Training Program
- New Supervisor Professional Development Program
- Protective Response/Hotline Training
- New Area Program Manager Training
- In-Service, Child Welfare-Based Practice Training
- MSW Fellowship Program
- Professional Certificate Programs
- Licensing Test Preparation
- Professional Conferences and Forums
- Policy Implementation and Training

CWI offers a comprehensive range of training opportunities. For a detailed list and explanation of these programs, please refer to the ACF Title IV-E State Training Plan. The following table summarizes the primary CWI training programs, aligning curriculum and content with strategic areas and priorities for organizational effectiveness and practice improvement.

New Worker Pre-Service Training Program

The DCF Child Welfare Institute (CWI) designs and implements a wide range of professional development programs for all agency staff levels. The New Social Worker Pre-Service Training (NSWPT) program is the primary onboarding program for newly hired direct service social workers.

NSWPT is the largest program implemented by CWI. New social workers complete this comprehensive training series before being assigned cases, marking the beginning of their learning journey as child welfare professionals.

NSWPT is an innovative hybrid learning program, utilizing both synchronous and asynchronous teaching approaches and an in-person classroom environment. Through a blend of real-time instructor-led remote sessions, live in person classroom meetings, and self-paced asynchronous learning assignments, new social workers experience a varied learning process that accommodates different learning styles.

The training process for new social workers is based on a collaborative practice framework, which organizes child welfare social work into five major learning dimensions: engagement, assessment, planning, implementation, and professional responsibilities. These dimensions guide the learning journey for new social workers, helping them develop foundational knowledge and providing structure for experiential learning activities as they explore their strengths and needs as facilitators of change.

Collaborative Practice

The New Social Worker Training Program adheres to the Leadership Identified Competencies. (Please see the Appendix B for the identified competency and Appendix C for the Module crosswalk)

1. Learning Path Overview

The NSWPT program is divided into twenty-one learning modules, each with a specific learning path. These competency-driven paths ensure that the content and activities are focused and directly relevant to the day-to-day work of helping families keep their children safe. The learning path includes instructor-led virtual training sessions, peer learning groups, eLearning resources, literature reviews, and self-paced learning supports.

All training materials are accessible online through the DCF SharePoint. Each new social worker has full access to these materials via the DCF SharePoint portal. Additionally, all DCF staff can access these resources for continuous learning, development, and coaching new workers. The SharePoint training portal serves as a reference point for social workers to enhance their practice throughout their careers, providing immediate access to professional clinical tools needed to effectively assess danger, risk, and safety, and to plan interventions with families.

The DCF SharePoint portal is maintained by CWI staff. In collaboration with specialists, contracted trainers, the DCF legal department, OJL team members, area office leadership, supervisors, and social workers, the materials are continuously updated, evidence-based, and reviewed for effectiveness.

A crucial component of the NSWPT is On-the-Job Learning (OJL). As a core element of the learning path, new social workers spend time with their area office team—including their supervisor, unit, and managers—to shadow peers and develop relationships. The OJL experience aims to transfer knowledge and skills gained in training to direct practice with families. DCF is continually building formal structures to improve this vital training component, including creating an opportunity for new social workers to spend two weeks in the area office before beginning training. This approach promotes effective practice and inspires high retention rates as social workers build strong connections with colleagues and gain confidence in their skills.

Each learning path incorporates various methods of training delivery, activities, and practice experiences, including:

1. Content-based, instructor-led remote learning sessions
2. eLearning and videos
3. Literature reviews
4. Pod learning
5. Professional learning communities
6. Self-assessments and professional portfolios
7. On-the-Job Learning

New Social Worker Learning Perspective

For a comprehensive catalogue of the training topics covered during the complete NSWPT, please see the appendix below.

2. E-Learning and Videos

Asynchronous learning opportunities allow new social workers flexibility in their preparation for training sessions. The e-Learnings and related videos provide content for new workers to watch, review, and explore the technical aspects of their work. Prior to each learning pod, new social workers are expected to complete the assigned preparation activities and learning supports. They are afforded ample time to read, digest and synthesize key concepts necessary to engage fully in the in-person learning sessions and discussion. The introduction of e-Learning and video presentations help to motivate participants to take greater active responsibility for their learning. They have the time and space to assess their individual learning strategies and create routines to enhance their retention, integration, and exploration of topics. This collaborative learning process allows trainers to focus more on experiential learning, practice activities, and the integration of skills.

3. Literature Reviews

A core competency of child welfare social workers is their ability to gather and distill complex information into meaningful narratives. Reading skills are essential in this process. The NSWPT expects newly hired staff to read a wide range of policy, law, professional articles, case scenarios, and case records. Reading this variety of literature also helps social workers develop professional writing skills. These asynchronous learning assignments help new social workers start good practices around policy review and utilization of evidence-based social worker practices. The information provided in these sections are the foundational building blocks used to create and shape the live sessions. The purpose of the literature review is to introduce key concepts and examples of best practices that can then be reinforced in the pod group dialogues.

This component of the learning path is designed to as a reference resource to reinforce the primary responsibility of new social workers to read and understand DCF policy and procedures. Time is spent reviewing the importance and professional expectation of adhering to policy. Policy is used for each learning path as foundational information needed to professionally support families and achieve the mission, vision and goals set by DCF.

4. POD Learning

Pod learning is an innovative synchronous learning support. Pod learning sessions are small groups of new social workers. An expert in child welfare practice facilitates the group to help participants dig deeper into essential child welfare practice topics. These sessions allow for group discussion and consideration of the information presented during remote trainings, e-Learnings and readings. These facilitated dialogues inspire new social workers to explore best practices, try out strategies and skills with peers, and provide group supervision regarding complex child welfare cases. The pod learning groups analyze a case scenario to illustrate best practices and allow for new social workers to practice clinical skills.

The utilization of Pod Learning groups will continue to emerge and develop to meet the needs of new social workers.

Facilitated Pod Learning Sessions

5. Professional Learning Communities

Professional Learning Communities (PLCs) were implemented to add direct contact, connection, and comradery to the virtual learning space. PLCs are small cohort groups focused on peer-to-peer interaction and collaboration. The PLC takes place in virtual space. Coming together virtually in a small group allows new social workers to get to know other class members. Working together on a group project and assignments related to their learning path, the group learns to cooperate, promote their strengths, challenge their assumptions, and celebrate collective accomplishments.

The PLCs are relationship-based self-directed groups—but the group still adheres to an overt structure. The group participants demonstrate facilitation skills as they learn about group dynamics and build support networks. Practicing facilitation skills drives the group's success as each member contributes to the assigned project or writing exercise. From the facilitated process, social workers also compile professional portfolios and conduct self-assessments.

Peer to Peer Learning

Daily sessions facilitated by peers with a purpose to build collaboration, connections and complete tasks

Professional Learning Communities

6. Self-assessments and Professional Portfolio

Self-assessment and reflection are core components of social worker practice. New social workers enter the agency with diverse backgrounds and experiences. Given large groups and varying levels of experience, the training team and area office staff must cooperate to assess capacities and identify the strengths and needs of newly hired social workers. Intentional partnerships between the training team and the area office team help ensure that new workers are well-suited for the demands of child protection work.

Self-assessments and professional portfolios play a tangible role in facilitating this cooperation. Self-assessments, a series of reflection exercises shared with the area office supervisor, provide insight into how new workers apply their training to practice. This integration has enhanced the ability of supervisors and CWI staff to develop learning strategies that support workers during their first two years with the department.

The professional portfolio includes assessments, projects, written documents, clinical formulations, professional tools, and personal reflections. It is shared with CWI trainers and supervisors to foster ongoing discussions about learning needs and objectives, forming the foundation of a professional development plan for new social workers.

During the first week of training, each new hire completes a Competency Assessment to measure and document their competencies, identifying strengths and areas of need. This assessment is shared with supervisors and used during supervision. It is repeated at the end of the NSWPT to evaluate the new hire's readiness further and support targeted supervision. The manager overseeing NSWPT reviews both versions of the assessment to assess program effectiveness and identify areas for improvement.

See Appendix B for the Competency Assessment.

7. On-the-Job Learning

On-the-Job Learning (OJL) is integral to training new social workers. Much of a new social worker's professional development happens in the field, where they observe, and practice skills related to providing services to children and families. Field practice supplements and enhances formal instruction by offering "real-world" experiences that are impossible in a classroom or online setting.

8. Classroom Learning Labs

The DCF Child Welfare Institute has developed five full-days of in-person classroom instruction. These topics were chosen due to the high need for in-person interactions to meet the identified learning outcomes. The modules include:

1. Welcome to DCF
2. Car Seat Safety
3. Concrete Resources
4. Interviewing/Documentation, Placing a Child, and IFNET & Device Technology Training

These sessions require in-person interaction to integrate core concepts and fully practice hands-on activities. They are designed as lab environments where social workers can experiment with strategies. The training supports social workers in practicing new engagement techniques in a low-risk, supportive setting, enhancing their ability to interact purposefully with clients in the field. Trainers provide feedback and support and demonstrate best practices.

9. MassAchieve Learning Management System

MassAchieve is the Commonwealth's Learning Management System. MassAchieve allows new hires to access required training and find personal and professional development courses. My Path and Learner Home are personal landing pages for learning and training. New workers will find required training assignments and completion dates, featured courses and playlists, and a catalog that offers access to thousands of training courses.

Supervisors have access to their new workers' learning paths. Through the portal, they can monitor their progress and support completion. They can also assign training to support the new hires in their new roles at DCF.

10. Technology

During the first two weeks of training, new workers are equipped with Commonwealth-issued mobile phones and Microsoft Surface Pro devices. Throughout the training new workers are taught how to utilize technology to support their clinical work. At the end of NSWPT, all new workers have access to the following DCF systems:

- Virtual Gateway
- iFamilyNet & DCF Intranet
- Self Service Time and Attendance (HRCMS)
- MassAchieve
- Mass.gov Email
- Office 365 & Teams

11. Continuous Learning

After new DCF social workers are hired they begin a nine-month probationary period. During this period, new social workers must complete mandatory continuous learning requirements. The following trainings are required in the continuous learning curriculum and must be completed during the probationary period:

- NASW Test Prep
- Making the Most of Family Time
- Clinical Formulations
- Observable Change
- Strategies for Engagement in Child Welfare

- Foundations of Domestic Violence
- Vicarious Trauma and Self-Care
- Addressing Parental Substance Use in Child Welfare
- Structured Decision Making
- Regional Legal Training

The total projected cost of the New Worker Pre-Service program is $200,000 per year.

Supervisor Training

The New Supervisor Training Series is offered several times a year depending on the needs of the field. The series consists of thirteen full days of training over a period of three months.

The Supervisor Series is structured using the Peer-to-Peer Learning Community model. This approach was developed in partnership with the Capacity Building Center for States to increase supervisory skill development and to promote group supervision and learning using a structured process.

The Peer-to-Peer model utilizes a tool referred to as the 7 Steps. This tool structures learning for supervisors and provides structure for individual and group supervision. The steps are as follows:

- Purpose- Why are we meeting today?
- Context- Is there anything that impacts stakeholders working together?
- Group Agreements- How do we want to work with each other?
- Desired Outcomes- What do we hope to accomplish?
- Content- What we are going to discuss and learn?
- Reflections- What went well about our time together? What upgrades can be made?
- Next Steps- What steps do we need to take from here?

Another key component of this learning model is using Discussion Guides. Discussion Guides are topic based and follow a consistent pattern and structure for fidelity to the topic.

Four key areas of supervision are addressed in the series and in follow up trainings along with the supervisor competencies. The four areas are:

- Administrative
- Educational
- Supportive
- Clinical

The series is limited to forty participants to enhance participation, practice, and transfer of learning.

The 10 topics included in the series are:

- Principles of Supervision
- Enhancing Supervisory Skills

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

- Adjusting to the Role
- Human Resources
- Understanding the Legal System
- Navigating Mass Achieve
- Supervision with a Lens on Substance Misuse
- Supervision with a Lens on Domestic Violence
- Recognizing the importance of Self-Care and ways to promote Self-Care for staff
- Cultural Responsiveness

Based on participant and leadership feedback, new areas of focus have been added to the existing program. These topics include:

- Human Trafficking
- Office of the Child Advocate (OCA) – this will include COINs (Central Office Incident Notification) and reports that go up to the OCA and EHS
- ICWA
- Supervision with a lens on Mental Health

Throughout the series participants engage in both small and large group discussions, as well as role plays of individual and group supervision to enhance their skills. Field staff presenters are a key component of the program and are included to help enrich the learning process. Additionally, each day of the training utilizes case samples and videos to promote critical thinking and a strengths-based approach using the five protective factors.

There is space on the CWI Intranet page for Supervisor to share documents, see tip sheets and view homework assignments.

Once they complete the new supervisor training series, supervisors have the option of continuing to participate in monthly Peer -to- Peer Learning Communities. These facilitated discussions allow for ongoing relationship building and continued skill development.

The current Peer- to -Peer Groups recently completed a professional book club series based “Dare to Lead” by Brene Brown. The groups are now reading and discussing “StrengthFinder 2.0” from Gallup.

Discussion Guides have also been developed and utilized in follow-up supervisor trainings to promote group supervision as a learning vehicle.

Discussion Guides have been developed for the following topics:

- The Art of Facilitation
- Quality Contacts
- Youth Permanency
- Reflective Supervision
- Prudent Parenting
- Group Supervision

Department of Children and Families
Child Welfare Institute

- Placement Stability
- Incorporating Youth and Families Voice
- Supervising through a Trauma Informed Lens

Numerous other in-service trainings are offered for supervisors, a few examples are listed below:

- Building Capacity Series
- The Impact of Identity and Social Media
- Trauma Informed Conflict Resolution: three part series
- Supervision through a trauma informed, culturally sensitive lens
- Motivational interviewing/helping people change

The total projected cost for the New Supervisor Training program is $80,000 per year of this five-year plan.

New Area Program Manager (APM) Professional Development Series

Program Description

The New APM Professional Development Program has adopted a multimodal approach consisting of hybrid learning through instructor-led online sessions and in-person trainings, in-person Peer to Peer (P2P) facilitated community building sessions and panel presentations. A longer-term goal of the program is to support New APMS through the assignment of a mentor.

This hybrid learning model is designed to build a community of practice amongst new APM's. This community of practice is designed to promote connections and continuous learning through ongoing P2P sessions and learning opportunities through the DCF intranet. The instructor led sessions will be conducted in-person and virtually to maximize participation and ease of access to the trainings. All P2P will be in person in 2024 to deepen collaboration and connections in management and leadership practice.

Online and in-person Instructor led sessions will be held twice a month – with one virtual half day and one in person full day at the TDC. Protected time and support for consistent attendance and participation is a necessary expectation of this training series.

The complete APM professional development series is 11 weeks in duration (5.5 months). The topics and learning have been scaffolded to reflect the skills an APM must acquire or build upon to be successful in their role.

New Area Program Manager Professional Development Program Vision

The total projected cost of the New Area Program Manager training program is $43,000 per year of this five-year plan.

Protective Intake and Response

The Protective Intake Response Intensive Seminar is designed to fulfill the Commonwealth mandate to provide additional training as identified under MGL c. 119, s 51B (q) for those social workers and supervisors conducting child abuse and neglect intakes and investigations of allegations contained within a 51A report. This training program ensures that all staff conducting protective intake and response are credentialed. The department and the private agencies under contract with it, shall conduct periodic and regular training and education to caseworkers, screeners of 51A reports, and administrators of the department and the agencies regarding their duties and obligations under section 51A and 51B. In addition, under (j), the department shall adopt regulations to implement sections 51A to 51F, inclusive.

The Intensive Seminar was developed at the request of senior leadership to provide training to address the ongoing need for hotline staff and response workers. The seminar series supports screeners, response workers, hotline social workers, and on-call supervisors in taking on their new roles within the Department. The intensive nature of the program allows social workers to complete the essential training content in as few as five consecutive days. The program is self-paced to allow staff the flexibility to complete each element of the learning path at their convenience in line with the needs of the area office.

The content includes a weaving of essential strategies to support trauma-informed practice. There are five live virtual instructor led sessions covering Structured Decision Making, Medical Indicators, Interviewing, Hotline and Clinical Formulation and 51B writing. Upon completing all modules within the curriculum, individuals are trained to support the needs of the field.

The total projected cost of the Protective Intake and Response training program is $40,000 per year for this five-year plan.

DCF POLICY AND PRACTICE IMPLEMENTATION

The Department has a continuous and comprehensive training program on Policy and Practice. During this training plan’s duration there will be a particular focus on the implementation of Structured Decision Making (SDM) as a cornerstone project. This initiative is designed to equip child welfare professionals with the knowledge, skills, and tools necessary to enhance decision-making processes and improve outcomes for children and families in our care.

Structured Decision Making (SDM): A Cornerstone Project

Structured Decision Making (SDM) is a research-based framework that standardizes decision-making processes in child welfare. By incorporating evidence-based tools and assessments, SDM aims to reduce subjectivity and variability in critical decisions, ensuring that every step—from intake to case closure—is guided by consistent, objective criteria. This systematic approach not only enhances the accuracy and fairness of our decisions but also helps prioritize resources for the most vulnerable children and families.

Key Components of SDM Implementation

Our training program will cover the key components of SDM, including:

- Risk and Safety Assessment: Utilizing validated tools to assess the immediate safety and long-term risk factors for children in their homes.
- Case Planning: Developing detailed, goal-oriented case plans that are tailored to the unique needs and strengths of each family.
- Reassessment and Case Closure: Periodically reassessing cases to track progress and make informed decisions about permanency and case closure.

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Integration with Permanency Policy

In tandem with SDM, the ongoing implementation of our permanency policy remains a critical priority. This policy is designed to ensure that every child achieves a stable, permanent home as swiftly and safely as possible. The permanency policy aligns with SDM by providing clear guidelines for evaluating and pursuing the best permanency options, whether through reunification with the birth family, adoption, guardianship, or another permanent arrangement.

Goals of the Training Program

This training program aims to:

- Enhance Understanding: Provide a thorough understanding of SDM principles and practices.
- Build Competency: Develop practical skills in applying SDM tools and techniques.
- Promote Best Practices: Encourage the adoption of best practices in permanency planning to achieve timely and stable outcomes for children.
- Foster Collaboration: Strengthen collaboration among child welfare professionals, ensuring a unified approach to decision-making and permanency planning.

By the end of this training plan period, DCF staff will be equipped with the expertise needed to implement SDM effectively and support the permanency policy's objectives. This integrated approach will not only improve the quality of our interventions but also enhance the overall well-being and stability of the children and families we serve.

Foster, Adoptive, and Guardian Parents Training Initiatives

Overview

The Department of Children and Families (DCF) is dedicated to ensuring the safety, well-being, and stability of children in need of placement. Our training initiatives for foster, adoptive, and guardian parents are designed to equip caregivers with the necessary skills, knowledge, and support to provide high-quality care for children. These initiatives include comprehensive training programs, both for initial licensing and ongoing renewals, ensuring that all caregivers are well-prepared to meet the unique challenges of child placement.

Initial Licensing and MAPP Training Program

The core component of our initial licensing process is the Model Approach to Partnerships in Parenting (MAPP) training program. MAPP is a nationally recognized program that prepares prospective foster, adoptive, and guardian parents through a series of structured training sessions. The program covers critical areas such as:

- Child Development and Behavior: Understanding the physical, emotional, and psychological development stages of children.
- Attachment and Trauma: Addressing the effects of trauma and strategies for building secure attachments.
- Parenting Skills: Practical approaches to discipline, communication, and creating a nurturing environment.
- Cultural Competency: Promoting sensitivity and understanding of diverse cultural backgrounds.
- Legal and Procedural Knowledge: Understanding the legal framework and procedural requirements for foster care, adoption, and guardianship.

MAPP training is delivered through interactive workshops, group discussions, and practical exercises, fostering a supportive learning environment where prospective caregivers can share experiences and gain insights from one another.

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Ongoing Training and Renewals

To maintain and enhance caregiving skills, DCF provides ongoing training for licensed foster, adoptive, and guardian parents. Renewal training ensures caregivers stay updated on best practices and new developments in child welfare. Key components include:

- Advanced Parenting Techniques: Updates on advanced strategies for managing challenging behaviors and supporting child development.
- Health and Safety: Training on current health and safety protocols, including first aid, CPR, and emergency preparedness.
- Specialized Topics: Workshops on topics such as caring for children with special needs, supporting LGBTQ+ youth, and navigating educational challenges.
- Support Networks: Encouraging participation in support groups and peer networks to share experiences and resources.

Support Services

DCF is committed to providing continuous support for foster, adoptive, and guardian parents through:

- Case Management: Dedicated caseworkers to assist with any issues or concerns.
- Resource Access: Information on community resources, financial assistance, and respite care options.
- Crisis Intervention: 24/7 access to crisis intervention services for urgent situations.

Conclusion

The DCF Foster, Adoptive, and Guardian Parents Training Initiatives are crucial for creating a network of well-prepared and supported caregivers. By providing comprehensive training through the MAPP program and ongoing renewal sessions, we aim to ensure that every child in our care is placed in a safe, nurturing, and stable environment where they can thrive. Our commitment to continuous support and education underscores our dedication to the well-being of both the children and the caregivers who serve them.

Professional Education and Certificate Programs

The Department of Children and Families (DCF) funds programs offered through both state and private universities across the Commonwealth. These programs are designed to enhance the professional skills of social workers, supervisors and managers; they focus on a range of areas critical to effective practice, including trauma-informed practice, human services management, and leadership.

MSW Fellowship Program

The Master of Social Work (MSW) Fellowship Program is a cornerstone of the DCF professional education initiatives. This program, in collaboration with University graduate social work programs, aims to prepare social work students for advanced practice in child welfare and to create career pathways and growth opportunities for staff.

Advanced Practice Certificates

In addition to the MSW Fellowship Program, DCF utilizes university partnerships to offer advanced practice certificates in several key areas to further enhance the skills of practicing social workers, supervisors and managers. These certificates include:

1. Trauma-Informed Practice

- Curriculum: Focuses on understanding the impact of trauma on individuals and families and developing skills to provide trauma-sensitive interventions.
- Skills Developed: Includes assessment and intervention techniques, promoting resilience, and creating safe, supportive environments for clients.

2. Human Services Management and Leadership

- Curriculum: Covers topics such as organizational management, leadership strategies, financial management, and policy development.
- Skills Developed: Emphasizes strategic planning, team leadership, ethical decision-making, and effective communication within human services organizations.

Conclusion

The DCF training programs provided through university partners offer comprehensive education and practical training for social workers, supervisors, and managers. By focusing on trauma-informed practice, human services management and leadership, these programs ensure that professionals are well-equipped to meet the complex needs of vulnerable families and children and lead their organizations effectively. The MSW Fellowship Program provides a robust pathway for students to gain specialized experience in child welfare, supported by financial assistance and professional development opportunities.

Community Partnerships to Advance Services to Families and Children

Committee for Public Counsel Services

DCF recognizes the CPCS professional development programs as an important feature of quality services for vulnerable children and families. Comprehensive Legal Training Program in Child Welfare Law is designed to equip lawyers with the specialized skills and knowledge required to navigate the multifaceted arena of child welfare cases. This program encompasses a broad spectrum of topics essential for effective advocacy and representation in this critical field.

Key Components of the Training Program:

1. Trial Preparation:

- Case Analysis and Strategy Development: Lawyers will learn to meticulously analyze case details, develop robust strategies, and prepare for both bench and jury trials.
- Mock Trials and Simulations: Through realistic mock trials and simulations, participants will gain hands-on experience in presenting evidence, examining witnesses, and crafting compelling arguments.
- Legal Writing and Documentation: Emphasis on drafting clear, persuasive legal documents, including motions, briefs, and court orders.

2. Probate Court Cases:

- Guardianship and Conservatorship: Detailed instruction on handling cases involving the appointment of guardians and conservators for minors, including legal standards and procedural requirements.
- Estate and Trust Issues: Guidance on navigating complex estate and trust matters that affect children in the welfare system, ensuring their rights and interests are protected.

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

- Interdisciplinary Collaboration: Training on collaborating with social workers, psychologists, and other professionals to support the best interests of the child.

3. Fair Hearings:

- Administrative Law Basics: Foundation in the principles and procedures of administrative law as it pertains to child welfare.
- Preparing for Hearings: Techniques for preparing clients and cases for fair hearings, including evidence gathering, witness preparation, and effective advocacy.
- Post-Hearing Processes: Understanding the appeals process, judicial review, and implementing hearing decisions to benefit the child and family.

4. Transition Age Youth:

- Aging Out of the System: Focused training on the unique legal needs of youth transitioning out of the child welfare system, including housing, education, and employment rights.
- Legal Guardianship and Emancipation: Guidance on legal guardianship options and the process of emancipation for older youth.
- Support Services: Knowledge of available support services and resources, and how to advocate for comprehensive support plans that address the holistic needs of transition age youth.

Program Methodology:

- Interactive Workshops: Combining lectures with interactive workshops where participants can engage in role-playing, group discussions, and case study analyses.
- Expert Instructors: Led by experienced child welfare attorneys, judges, and multidisciplinary experts who provide insights and mentorship.
- Ongoing Support and Continuing Education: Access to resources, peer networks, and continuing education opportunities to stay updated on evolving laws and best practices in child welfare.

This Comprehensive Legal Training Program ensures that lawyers are not only well-prepared to handle the legal intricacies of child welfare cases but also equipped with the empathy and cultural competence necessary to serve the best interests of children and families with compassion and professionalism.

Continuous Learning In-Service Training

The Child Welfare Institute's Continuous Learning In-Service Training Program is a comprehensive initiative designed to enhance the skills and knowledge of child welfare professionals across the state. This robust program offers over 100 workshops annually, addressing a wide range of critical topics pertinent to child welfare practice and administration.

Key Topics Included in the In-Service Training Program:

Child Welfare Practice The program provides in-depth training on best practices in child welfare, equipping staff with the necessary tools and techniques to effectively support children and families. Workshops cover case management, assessment strategies, and intervention methods, ensuring that practitioners are well-prepared to address the complex needs of their clients.

Supervision and Management Recognizing the importance of strong leadership, the training includes modules focused on supervision and management. These sessions are designed to develop the skills of current and aspiring supervisors, emphasizing effective leadership, team building, and conflict resolution. By fostering competent and confident leaders, the program aims to enhance the overall functioning of child welfare teams.

Policy Implementation The program offers detailed guidance on the implementation of state and federal policies. Participants learn how to navigate and apply these policies within their daily work, ensuring compliance and promoting best practices. This component is crucial for maintaining the integrity and effectiveness of child welfare services.

Substance Use Disorders The training program includes specialized sessions on substance use disorders, recognizing the profound impact these issues can have on families involved with child welfare. Workshops provide knowledge on the identification, assessment, and treatment of substance use disorders, as well as strategies for supporting affected children and parents.

Domestic Violence Understanding the complexities of domestic violence is critical for child welfare professionals. The program offers training on identifying signs of domestic violence, assessing risk, and implementing appropriate interventions. These sessions aim to protect vulnerable individuals and support them in achieving safety and stability.

Mental Health Mental health training is another cornerstone of the program, addressing the various mental health issues that may affect children and families. Workshops cover topics such as trauma-informed care, mental health assessments, and treatment planning. By enhancing mental health competencies, the program ensures that staff can provide holistic and effective support.

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Collaborative Practice Framework: Engagement, Assessment, Planning, Implementation, and Professional Responsibilities The program integrates the Collaborative Practice Framework, emphasizing the following key components:

- Engagement: Training emphasizes building trust and rapport with children, families, and stakeholders. Workshops cover communication techniques and strategies to effectively engage with diverse populations.
- Assessment: Comprehensive assessment training ensures that professionals can accurately identify the needs, strengths, and risks of children and families. This includes tools and methods for thorough evaluations.
- Planning: Training on developing effective and individualized case plans is provided, focusing on setting realistic goals and outlining actionable steps to support children and families.
- Implementation: Professionals learn strategies for implementing case plans, including resource coordination, service delivery, and ongoing monitoring to ensure that interventions are effective.
- Professional Responsibilities: Emphasis is placed on ethical practice, continuous professional development, and accountability. Workshops cover professional standards, legal obligations, and self-care to maintain a high level of service quality.

Hybrid Training Model: CWI employs a hybrid training model to deliver in-service training and meet the diverse learning needs of DCF staff. This model combines:

- In-Person Workshops:
  - Facilitates hands-on learning and networking opportunities.
  - Provides an interactive environment for discussions and role-playing exercises.
- Online Courses:
  - Offers flexibility and convenience for staff to complete training at their own pace.
  - Includes webinars, e-learning modules, and virtual workshops accessible from various locations.

Training Volume and Requirements

- Over 100 Workshops Annually:
  - The extensive array of workshops ensures a wide variety of topics and depth of knowledge.
  - Regularly updated to reflect the latest research, best practices, and policy changes.
- 30-Hour Annual Training Requirement:
  - According to state law, child welfare staff are required to complete 30 hours of training per year.
  - The program is structured to help staff easily meet this requirement through diverse and engaging training options.

Conclusion The Child Welfare Institute's Continuous Learning In-Service Training Program is a vital resource for child welfare professionals, offering comprehensive training across a broad spectrum of essential topics. Through a hybrid training model and the integration of the Collaborative Practice Framework, the program ensures that staff have the knowledge, skills, and support needed to effectively serve children and families while promoting an engaging helping service environment.

Training Description	This one-day training will focus on creating a culture that enables strength-based child profiles and supports the development of strength-based narratives for children and youth. Practicing in a trauma informed manner requires child welfare professionals to shift their understanding of children/youth from “what’s wrong with you” to “what’s happened to you”? This session will highlight the need to understand a youth’s negative behavior as pain based, moving beyond the idea of individual pathology and appreciating that all behavior has meaning. Training Title	Balancing Polarity: Navigating Complex Dynamics in Child Welfare

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Training Description	Often, the cycles of abuse and neglect that bring children into the child welfare system reflect generational patterns within their families. In this workshop we apply a family constellations lens to understand and navigate family complexities. Through this systemic approach, social workers will gain invaluable insights into the interconnected dynamics within familial systems, uncovering hidden patterns and polarities that contribute to trauma. By acknowledging and honoring the experiences of all family members, including those who have been harmed and those who have caused harm, participants will learn how to facilitate healing, promote empathy, and empower families to break free from destructive cycles.

Training Title	Building positive relationships with children to promote healing
Training Description	This training utilizes products from the NCTSN's STS committee to educate human service agencies on the impact on staff of working with traumatized youth and their families. STS refers to the experience of people, usually professionals, who are exposed to others' traumatic stories as part of their jobs and as a result, can develop their own traumatic symptoms and reactions. The training includes examining symptoms of compassion fatigue, moral distress, and best practices toward prevention and intervention at both the organizational and individual levels. The training incorporates a strength-based focus on adapted strategies to manage stress and trauma responses so that those in the helping profession build resiliency and coping measures to bolster their practices and connection to their respective roles.

Training Title	But Why? Difficult conversations with Kids in Care
Training Description	Being separated from one's family is recognized as a traumatic experience. We can reduce distress and help children recover by sharing with a child about why they were removed and the issues affecting their future. This training reviews the need for honest conversations, how to deal with developmental and behavioral concerns about such conversations, and the reasons why we may avoid difficult subjects with children. We will discuss the roles of others in the child welfare system who may talk with children, such as parents, foster carers, health providers, and children's attorneys and how to empower children to participate in decisions about their future.

Training Title	Engaging Youth in Foster Care
Training Description	Children who enter the child welfare system face many obstacles and challenges. When they are separated from their families and place in foster care, their willingness to trust and make positive connections can be extremely difficult. This training will discuss how to improve engagement with youth in foster care of all ages, races, and sexual orientations and gender identities. We will explore risk and resilience factors emphasizing the importance of strength based-solution focused strategies to support and engage these individuals.

Training Title	Family Controlled Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Training Description	This training will help DCF staff identify and assess concerns in the area of Family Controlled Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children. Assessing this area of child abuse requires a greater understanding of CSEC so that professionals are mindful of how their good intentions may ultimately create greater risks for the youth. Participation in this training, alongside the 12 CSEC MDT Coordinators, will strengthen the team approach that has been established to respond to all allegations of CSEC.

Training Title	Foundations of Domestic Violence
Training Description	This training is aimed at providing a general understanding of domestic violence to be able to assess and safely engage with the families on your caseload. You will learn the tactics that are used by the person using violence in order to maintain power and control over their partner and their children. We will talk about the different categories of intimate partner violence so that you can make the appropriate referral to services to effectively impact the behaviors of the person using violence and mitigate the risk for the family. We will also discuss how to assess the impact domestic violence has on children, what this means for their safety, and what services are most appropriate.

Training Title	From Infancy to Adolescence: Developmental Considerations During Response

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Training Description	Building on theories of child development and language acquisition presented in the PIRIS series, this training will provide an in-depth exploration of development from infancy to adolescence with a focus on behavioral perspectives, psychosocial and cognitive development, theories of social learning, sociocultural influence, and moral development in adolescence. Using vignettes and case examples, participants will learn and apply how the various stages of development may be observed and have influence on response interviews.

Training Title	From Shame to Resilience: Healing Pathways in Child Welfare
Training Description	Many caregivers grapple with the challenge of holding boundaries and addressing trauma-related behaviors while simultaneously striving to avoid retraumatizing the children in their care. Likewise, social workers often face difficult decisions, balancing the welfare of the child with the realities of enforcing system-wide mandates. This session explores the profound impact of internalized shame on behavior, relationships, self-esteem, and burnout. By fostering a deeper understanding of shame dynamics, participants will gain invaluable insights into how it influences their interactions and perceptions, so they can cultivate greater authenticity and compassion personally and professionally.

Training Title	Integrated Clinical Practice: The Intersection of substance use, domestic violence, trauma, and mental health
Training Description	This training will examine the intersection between common issues social workers respond to in the child welfare system. Parental substance use and domestic violence often co-occur. The complexities of its impact on individual functioning and parental capacity will be explored. The idea of self-medication and how people attempt to regulate difficult emotions/trauma with substances will also be discussed.

Training Title	Let's talk about Loss and Grief: I am here for you
Training Description	We will discuss the different types of loss and grief experienced by young people and identify ways to support them. For example, purposeful conversations, active listening, validation, activities, and support offer children and youth opportunities for expressing and processing their grief which is critical for healthy outcomes. Social workers need effective strategies to share information about loss, discuss it with children, and support them as they grieve and beyond. Through discussion and engaging activities, participants will have opportunities to reflect on their skills and comfort in helping children and youth process their loss and grief. In addition, we will engage in discussions that highlight promising practices for helping children and youth learn about, manage, and cope with loss and grief.

Training Title	Safety Planning for Permanency Resilience
Training Description	Safety Planning for Permanency Resilience uses the Safety Map tool to strengthen a family's existing resources so that they can respond to mental health crises in a way that keeps young people in their communities. This workshop will explore the concepts of Permanency and Power Literacy, looking at how we can partner with families to find and increase safety in the relationships, where it already exists. The Safety Map tool offers an assessment of existing supports, and an opportunity to think through how we might strengthen these supports to better meet a family's safety needs. Participants will complete the Safety Map tool in small groups, with coaching from instructors.

Training Title	Supporting Families Through The Sudden Unexpected Death Of An Infant or Child
Training Description	This workshop is designed for social workers working in the field with the Department of Children and Families. Participants will gain a comprehensive understanding of Sudden Unexpected Deaths in the Pediatric Age Range (SUDP), focusing on how to support bereaved families from the time of death (whether at home or in the hospital) through the bereavement process. The workshop will explore the complexities of navigating cases where the cause of death is uncertain, addressing potential child protection concerns versus underlying medical conditions. Emphasis will be placed on providing compassionate, family-centered care, effective communication strategies, and recognizing when to refer families for higher-level medical diagnostics and mental health care. Participants will engage in case studies and practical exercises to enhance their skills in immediate crisis response and ongoing bereavement support.

Training Title	Supporting Youth Permanency in the Community
Training Description	This training focuses on supporting families through mental health crises in a way that embodies cultural humility, strengthens the family's existing internal and external resources, and keeps young people in their communities and/or minimizes the duration of out-of-home placement. Participants will explore practical tools for family-focused safety planning, crisis prevention and response, and conflict resolution. This course is for participants from any role or discipline who are working to keep families together or to support a stable reunification process after a period of separation.

Training Title	The Human Animal Bond: Keeping Pets and Families Together
Training Description	Research supports what many of us know from our own experiences – pets are viewed as key members of the family for the vast majority of pet owners. Join us to learn more about the role of pets and the human animal bond, particularly during times of instability and insecurity. And learn how the animal welfare field is increasingly focused on providing services to support the human animal bond and keep pets and families together. We will review specifics about what these pet retention services entail and how to access them in Massachusetts.

Training Title	The Impact of Hip-Hop on Behavior and Culture and implications in Child Welfare
Training Description	Hip-hop training has emerged as an innovative and engaging approach to support children and adults involved in child welfare on social and cultural levels. This form of artistic expression encompasses various elements such as rap music, breakdancing, graffiti, and DJing, providing participants with a multifaceted platform to explore their creativity, build self-confidence, and develop important life skills. The essence of hip-hop culture lies in its ability to foster a sense of community, self-empowerment, and social consciousness, making it a valuable tool for individuals within the child welfare system.

Training Title	The Importance of Sibling Connections for Children: Best practices and activities to support connection for children separated in care
Training Description	The sibling relationship is unique among all our relationships in life. Sibling relationships are essential to children, and the maintenance of sibling ties can nurture a sense of stability and continuity. For siblings in foster care, the bonds are often shaped and challenged by separation. This interactive workshop addresses the importance of the sibling bond, strategies for keeping siblings together in placement and in permanence and tips for parents when helping siblings maintain their bonds if they have been separated. The afternoon will be spent doing hands-on activities and learning ideas to support connection and attachment for children who are separated while in care

Training Title	THEY DON'T COME WITH INSTRUCTIONS!: The art of interviewing children

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Training Description	Of critical importance in the work of Child Welfare Social Workers is the child interview. Children of all ages have something to tell us if we can provide them with a safe space to communicate. Even non-verbal children can tell us something if we are observant and ask the right questions of caregivers and others who spend time with them. Children's perspectives are vital to our child welfare work. In this workshop we discuss engagement with children, which by necessity differs from how we engage with adults, and we offer strategies for engaging children of all ages in ways that appeal to their interests and help them to feel safe.

Training Title	Transforming Family Patterns: Understanding and Healing Transgenerational Trauma
Training Description	Family patterns of dysfunction are often passed down through generations, deeply influencing parenting styles, child behavior, and the overall stability of the family system. This workshop is designed to help caregivers and social workers understand the impact of transgenerational trauma and learn strategies to break these cycles. Participants explore how inherited family dynamics shape relationships and discover practical techniques to foster a sense of belonging and stability for children within complex family systems. Sessions offer valuable insights and practical strategies to help participants foster healing and develop a toolkit of techniques that support healing and resilience in children and families.

Training Title	Transition to Adulthood: An Introduction to Transition Planning in High School for individuals with Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (NDDs)
Training Description	This workshop will prepare participants with the knowledge and resources to support their adolescent clients with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) and other Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (NDDs) in navigating the transition to adulthood. Participants will learn about the foundations of transition planning in high school including creating a vision, pre-employment transition services, referring to state agencies, and life skills development, in addition to understanding the Age of Majority and the changes that come with turning 18, as well as supports that can be put in place at this time. Participants will have the opportunity to learn how to best connect families with needed services outside of the school environment (e.g. educational advocates, social and life skills development programming, behavior supports, and family-wide supports). The training will conclude with encouraging clients to think ahead, and prepare them to identify supports and resources that will apply to their clients as they enter adult years.

Training Title	Trauma, Parenting and Intellectual Developmental Disability: An Intra and Inter Agency Puzzle
Training Description	A disproportionate number of families with parents with IDD end up in the child welfare system (research shows 40-80% of children are removed from the care of parents with IDD), often because preventative and supportive services were not offered to them earlier when they needed the help. No matter what door you, as a provider, walk through each day– the Developmental Disability door, the Public Health door, the Child Welfare door, the Mental Health Door, the Health and Wellness door, the Early Intervention/Education door and/or the Advocacy door (or another door!) –we need each other, and we need to work together. More importantly, parents with IDD need us, as providers, to step up and offer appropriate coordinated preventative and treatment services. This training provides an overview of some of the puzzle pieces of trauma, parenting, and IDD, and puts them together in the form of a comprehensive coherent treatment approach. In the four hours, you will gain perspective on what is possible, what is needed, and what puzzle pieces are still missing, and need to be further developed. You may not get all the answers, but you will get the start of sustainable change.

Training Title	Understanding Suicide- 101 For DCF Social Workers

Department of Children and Families

Child Welfare Institute

Training Description	This training is designed specifically for DCF Social Workers to increase knowledge and improve skills and confidence of those working with high-risk youth and adults, and planning for their care. Participants will learn data, demographics, and current theories about suicide, review current information on suicide risk factors and warning signs, and examine personal reactions to dealing with suicidal behaviors. The course also provides strategies for asking children or adults about their thoughts of suicide, introduces participants to suicide safety planning, provides an overview of current best practices for clinical intervention and wraps up with a discussion of worker self-care, an essential component of dealing effectively with this challenging issue.

Training Title	Unmasking Gang Culture: Understanding and Addressing Gang Behavior
Training Description	In this training we will look at the psychological and social factors that contribute to gangs and their historical roots and evolution in America to gain an understanding of the socio-economic factors that fuel their existence. We will examine the alarming intersection between gangs and Domestic Minor Sex Trafficking (DMST), shedding light on the complex dynamics that perpetuate exploitation. We will analyze the pervasive influence of media on gang culture, from its portrayal in movies to the role of music in shaping perceptions and recruitment. Finally, we will explore effective strategies and solutions aimed at addressing gangs, encompassing community-based interventions, law enforcement approaches, and preventative measures to create safer societies.

Training Title	Working With Adolescents: From Protection to Permanency
Training Description	Our work with Adolescents and their families is often complicated by the developmental processes inherent in adolescent growth as well as the lack of family capacities and community resources to address some of the concerns identified in the family assessment. This workshop will provide a brief review of DCF Adolescent Permanency Policy, identify challenges to the Protective Services Framework in working with adolescents and offer some strategies for best outcomes. The prevalence and impact of trauma in our adolescent population, assessing danger and risk to adolescents and setting clear and reasonable Action Plan goals for this population will be emphasized. Understanding the adolescent brain and Positive Youth Development will be offered as research-based information that can positively impact our ability to ensure safety, permanency and well-being for our adolescent consumers.
