General Information

Quaboag Pond is a 558 acre Great Pond located approximately 2 miles southeast of Brookfield center on the Brookfield Brookfield town line.

Quaboag Pond has an average depth of 6 feet, a maximum of 16 feet, and aquatic vegetation is relatively common within areas less than 10ft deep. The majority of shoreline development occurs on the northern and eastern shores. The Quacumquasit Wildlife Management Area is located on the southwestern shore and is undeveloped. Quaboag Pond is fed by the East Brookfield River and the Quaboag River, the latter of which is navigable by boaters for some distance through the Quaboag Wildlife Management Area up to the Dis Road crossing (not shown on map). Quaboag Pond is a popular destination for recreational boaters, swimmers, and paddlers during the summer months.

Fishing

Quaboag Pond is known throughout Massachusetts for its trophy Northern Pike, which occasionally exceed 20 pounds. The majority of these fish are caught through the ice in winter along with good numbers of Crappie, Chain Pickerel, and Largemouth Bass, a few of which have been reported to exceed 7 pounds. Fishing the shores and weed beds of the Quaboag River for bass and pickerel is popular during summer as is fishing for Bullhead in the main body of the pond. Quaboag Pond has produced Largemouth Bass, Northern Pike, Chain Pickerel, Yellow Perch, White Perch, crappie, sunfish, and bullhead that meet sizes for recognition by the Sportfishing Awards Program.
