CERB DECISION ON APPEAL OF HEARING OFFICER DECISION

SUMMARY

1 On October 9, 2015, a Department of Labor Relations (DLR) Hearing Officer issued
2 his decision in this matter. The Hearing Officer found that the Franklin County Technical 3 Regional School Committee (School Committee or Employer) failed to offer unconditional
4 support of a grievance settlement in violation of Section 10(a)(5) and, derivatively Section
10(a)(1) of M.G.L c 150E (the Law) when, following the settlement, Superintendent James Laverty (Laverty) made a formal recommendation to the School Committee’s Finance Subcommittee to fund it but immediately allowed his subordinate, Principal Richard Martin (Martin) to make a non-funding recommendation. The Hearing Officer ordered the School Committee to cease and desist from its unlawful behavior and to submit a request for funding with unconditional support to the School Committee’s Finance Subcommittee.

The School Committee filed a timely appeal of the decision with the Commonwealth Employment Relations Board (CERB) claiming legal error and challenging certain aspects of the remedy. The Union filed a responsive supplementary statement and the School Committee filed a reply to the Union’s response. After considering the hearing record and the parties’ arguments on review, the CERB affirms the decision for the reasons set forth below but clarifies the remedy.

Facts

The parties stipulated to certain facts and the Hearing Officer made additional findings of fact that the School Committee did not challenge. We therefore adopt those facts in their entirety and do not repeat them except as necessary for an understanding of the decision. Further reference may be made to the Hearing Officer’s decision, which is reported at 42 MLC 103, and attached to the slip opinion of this decision.

Opinion

It is well-established that an employer’s obligation to seek funding for a collectively-bargained agreement goes beyond the ministerial act of submitting the request for funding to the funding authority. Rather, the employer is required to take all necessary steps to fund it,

1 The CERB’s jurisdiction is not contested.
including conveying clearly its unconditional support for the funding, particularly in the face of expressed opposition. City of Chelsea, 40 MLC 353, 355 MUP-13-2683 (May 29, 2014) (citing Town of Rockland, 16 MLC 1001, 1006, n. 11, 1007 (June 1, 1989); Worcester School Committee, 5 MLC 1080, 1083-1085 (MUP-2260) (June 21, 1978)).

In concluding that the School Committee had violated the Law, the Hearing Officer first addressed the threshold question of whether the parties had, in fact, reached a grievance settlement\(^2\) that the School Committee was bound to support. He found that they had, and the School Committee does not appeal from this determination. Rather, it disputes Laverty's obligations under the settlement. The School Committee claims that, although Laverty may have agreed to "recommend" that funding be provided, it did not agree to the "unconditional support" that the Hearing Officer found the agreement required. The School Committee argues that there is a substantive difference between "support" and "unconditional support."

As the Union points out however, the "unconditional" support requirement is derived not from the language of the agreement itself, but by the statutory duty to bargain in good faith. That duty necessarily includes both parties' duty to uphold the bargain they have reached, which, for the employer, begins with its obligation to secure and support funding from the funding body for its costs. See id. Unless that support is unconditional, the statutory duty to uphold agreements reached as a result of collective bargaining would be rendered meaningless. Town of Rockland, 16 MLC at 1007 ("To permit the employer to negotiate an agreement and, after its finalization, to avoid it by failing to take necessary steps to fund it

\(^2\) The Union filed the grievance at issue after Tammy Hyson (Hyson), a teacher assigned to the business technology shop at the Franklin County Technical School (FCTS) met with the Union president after the other business technology teacher in the shop left to become the vocational curriculum coordinator for FCTS, leaving Hyson as the only business technology teacher in the business technology shop. The Hearing Officer referred to the grievance as the Hyson grievance and we adopt that nomenclature.
would permit unilateral repudiation of collective bargaining by the public employer.") Accordingly, the fact that the agreement omits the words “unconditional” does not mean that the Hearing Officer erred when he concluded that the settlement required Laverty to submit a request to fund a second teacher in the business technology school for the 2014-2105 school year and to unconditionally support that request.

Next, the Hearing Officer considered whether the actions of Laverty and Martin at the Finance Subcommittee meeting on June 4, 2015 constituted the requisite unconditional support. He found that they did not based on: 1) Laverty conditioning his support of the request to fund the settlement by referencing Martin’s opposition; 2) Martin speaking against funding the grievance settlement; and 3) Laverty not refuting Martin’s opposition.

The School Committee challenges this conclusion for several reasons. It first claims that the Hearing Officer erroneously relied on Laverty’s statement at the Finance Subcommittee meeting, that he was aware of other business technology programs in other districts where there was only one instructor teaching the class. Although the Hearing Officer made this finding, his legal conclusion that Laverty and Martin’s actions lacked the requisite support was not based on this finding. We therefore reject this argument.

Second, the School Committee claims that the Hearing Officer erred by imposing the same duty of unconditional support on Martin that he imposed on Laverty. The School Committee points out that, unlike Laverty, Martin did not negotiate the settlement agreement and none of the cases cited by the Hearing Officer required subordinates to support funding for a bargained agreement. As the Union points out, however, our case law establishes that managers or administrators are agents of a public employer whose actions may be imputed to the employer itself. See Higher Education Coordinating Council, 25 MLC 69, 71, SUP-4087 (September 17, 1998). There is no dispute that both Laverty and Martin are agents of the School Committee. Thus, it was both reasonable and appropriate of the Union to assume that Laverty's agreement to support funding would include the support of his subordinates. We agree with the Hearing Officer that, as a policy matter, to permit a subordinate who is also an agent of management to oppose funding any kind of settlement that had been negotiated by a direct supervisor would undermine the confidence of unions and employers in the peaceful resolution of labor disputes. Further, as a practical matter, to hold otherwise would mean that every agreement the parties entered into must be signed by each person in the employer's chain of command.

3 The School Committee did not appeal from the Hearing Officer’s conclusion that the duty to support funding is applicable to grievance settlements.

Finally, even if Martin were not the School Committee's agent, the Hearing Officer's conclusion that the School Committee failed to provide the requisite support for the agreement was also based on Laverty's failure to refute Martin's statements. Our case law is clear that this silence in the face of opposition, standing alone, constitutes a violation of the duty to support. Town of Rockland, 16 MLC at 1007. We therefore affirm the Hearing Officer's decision and address the School Committee's remaining arguments regarding remedy.

Remedy

It is well-established that the CERB has "considerable discretion . . . in fashioning an appropriate remedy." School Committee of Newton v. Labor Relations Commission, 388 Mass. 557, 579 (1983). The CERB's goal in fashioning remedies is to restore the status quo ante "as nearly as possible by attempting to that which would have existed but for the unfair labor practice." Id. at 576.
The School Committee argues that the Hearing Officer violated the Law when, instead of merely requiring a notice and posting that the School Committee violated the Law as alleged, he ordered the “School Committee” to “submit a request for funding the settlement of the Hyson grievance with unconditional support to the Finance Subcommittee of the Franklin County Technical Regional School Committee.” The School Committee claims that the Hearing Officer’s order (Order) is erroneous for several reasons. First, the allegation was that the Superintendent, not the School Committee, failed to make an appropriate recommendation to the Finance Subcommittee. It notes that its process for funding is for the Curriculum Subcommittee to make a recommendation to the Finance Subcommittee, and then for the Finance Subcommittee, as an advisory committee, to make a recommendation to the School Committee. Because the issue never reached the School Committee, the School Committee argues that it was illogical and beyond the Hearing Officer’s authority to order the School Committee to make a recommendation to the Finance Subcommittee for funding. The School Committee submits that the appropriate order would be for the School Committee to order the Superintendent to make the funding recommendation to the Finance Subcommittee and then, if the Finance Subcommittee approved the request, for them to forward it to the School Committee to make a final recommendation.

We agree with the School Committee, that, as presently worded, Section 2(a) of the Order fails to distinguish between the School Committee in its capacity as the statutory employer of the agents whose acts were found to violate the Law, and the School Committee in its capacity as the funding body. To clarify this, instead of ordering the School Committee to “submit the request for funding,” we order the School Committee to require Laverty to submit the funding request.
The School Committee next argues that Laverty's agreement was limited to seeking funding for the 2014-2015 school year only and, thus, requiring Laverty to submit a request for funding the agreement beyond that school year goes beyond the terms of that settlement. The School Committee also claims that the Order requires the School Committee to fund the agreement and there is no appropriation for an additional teacher for the subsequent school year. As modified, however, the Order does not mandate funding; it only orders the School Committee to require Laverty to submit an unconditional request to fund the settlement of the grievance. This leaves both the Finance Subcommittee, and, if necessary, the School Committee, free to exercise their discretion to approve the funding request or not. Further, the purpose of the agreement was to have Laverty recommend funding for a second business technology position in 2014-2015, i.e., the upcoming school year. As the Union points out, the impossibility now of making a recommendation for the 2014-2015 year is entirely the result of the School Committee's unlawful action. Accordingly, an order to seek funding for a second business technology position, even if the request must now apply to a later period, is appropriate because it places the Union, "as nearly as possible" in the position it would have been in but for the School Committee's unlawful behavior. School Committee of Newton, 388 Mass. at 576. As to the ability to fund, in analogous circumstances, where existing appropriations may not be sufficient, the CERB has indicated that an employer's obligation to support the agreement it makes includes taking all appropriate steps to comply with the agreement, including if necessary, seeking supplemental appropriations. Town of Rockland, 16 MLC at 1009, (citing City of Chelsea, 13 MLC 1144, MUP-6211 (September 22, 1986)).
Conclusion

For the above reasons, we affirm the Hearing Officer’s decision and issue the following Order.

ORDER

WHEREFORE, based upon the foregoing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT the Franklin County Technical Regional School Committee shall:

1. Cease and desist from;
   a) Failing or refusing to bargain collectively in good faith with the Union by failing to unconditionally support any funding requests necessary to effectuate grievance settlements;
   b) In any like or related manner interfering with, restraining or coercing employees in the exercise of their rights guaranteed under the Law.

2. Take the following action that will effectuate the purposes of the Law:
   a) Require Laverty to submit a request for funding the settlement of the Hyson grievance with unconditional support to the Finance Subcommittee of the Franklin County Technical Regional School Committee;
   b) Post immediately in all conspicuous places where members of Union’s bargaining unit usually congregate, or where notices are usually posted, including electronically, if the School Committee customarily communicates with these unit members via intranet or email and display for a period of thirty (30) days thereafter, signed copies of the attached Notice to Employees.
   c) Notify the DLR in writing of the steps taken to comply with this decision within ten (10) days of receipt of this decision.

HEARING OFFICER'S DECISION AND ORDER

SUMMARY

1 The issue is whether the Franklin County Technical Regional School Committee (School Committee or Employer), bargained in bad faith when, following a grievance settlement, Superintendent James Laverty (Laverty) made a formal recommendation to the School Committee's Finance Subcommittee to fund the settlement but allowed his subordinate to immediately make a non-funding recommendation, in violation of Section 10(a)(5) and derivatively Section 10(a)(1) of Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 150E (the Law). I find that the School Committee violated the Law in the manner alleged.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On July 21, 2014, the Franklin County Technical Teachers Association (FCTTA, or Union) filed a charge with the Department of Labor Relations (DLR) alleging that the Employer had violated Section 10(a)(5) and derivatively, Section 10(a)(1) of the Law. The Employer filed a Written Response to this charge on August 5, 2014. Following an investigation, the DLR issued a Complaint of Prohibited Practice and Partial Dismissal\(^1\) on October 24, 2014, alleging that the Employer had violated Section 10(a)(5) and derivatively, Section 10(a)(1) of the Law by failing to bargain in good faith when Laverty and Assistant Superintendent and Principal Richard Martin (Martin) failed to offer unconditional support of a grievance settlement to the School Committee. The Employer filed an Answer to the Complaint on May 8, 2015.

I conducted one day of hearing on May 11, 2015, at which both parties had the opportunity to be heard, to examine witnesses and to introduce evidence. The parties filed post-hearing briefs on or about July 17, 2015. Upon review of the entire record, including my observation of the demeanor of the witnesses, I make the following findings of fact and render the following decision.

FACTS

1. The School Committee is a public employer within the meaning of Section 1 of the Law.

2. The Union is an employee organization within the meaning of Section 1 of the Law.

\(^1\) Those allegations which were dismissed by the investigator were not appealed to the Commonwealth Employment Relations Board (Board) and are therefore not part of this decision.
3. The Union is the exclusive bargaining representative for all teachers employed by the School Committee.

4. The Union and the School Committee are parties to a Collective Bargaining Agreement (Agreement) which expires on June 30, 2016.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Franklin County Technical School (FCTS) is a vocational high school where students spend half of their time in traditional academic classes and the other half in vocational shops. For example, grades 9 and 11 attend academic classes one week while grades 10 and 12 attend shop classes, and the following week the schedule is reversed. There are thirteen shops at FCTS, ranging from electrical, carpentry, welding and auto body and including business technology. Business technology is a shop that prepares students for general office work. Generally, there are two vocational teachers assigned to each shop.

At the end of the 2012-2013 school year, Tammy Hyson (Hyson) and Jocelyn Croft (Croft) were the two teachers assigned to the business technology shop. Croft left the shop teaching position to become the vocational curriculum coordinator for FCTS, leaving Hyson as the sole teacher in the business technology shop. Hyson met with Union President Elyse Cann (Cann) who filed a grievance on the matter on November 13, 2013. Croft resolved the grievance temporarily by placing a substitute teacher in the business technology shop along with Hyson.² Croft then referred the matter to Martin at the next step of the grievance process.

Martin declined to rule on the Hyson grievance. Therefore, the Union next moved the grievance to Laverty on February 28, 2014. Laverty met with Cann and Hyson on ² Because she was promoted to the position of curriculum director, Croft heard the grievance at step 1.

April 1, 2014. At that meeting, the parties agreed to place a specific substitute teacher in Hyson’s shop full time for the remainder of the 2013-2014 school year. Laverty and Cann also agreed that Laverty would recommend to the Finance Subcommittee of the School Committee that an additional full time certified or certifiable instructor be hired in the business technology shop for the 2014-2015 school year. If the Finance Subcommittee approved Laverty’s request, he would make the same request of the full School Committee.

From April 4 through 7, 2014, Cann and Laverty exchanged emails on the subject of the grievance settlement. Laverty offered edits of a document that Cann had prepared. Laverty’s final email to Cann on April 7 thanked her for getting back to him on the “proposed compromise,” and as a final change, requested deletion of an issue involving classroom space in the business technology shop. Cann agreed to this change by subsequent email that same day, and thanked Laverty for reaching a settlement. There was no evidence of any written or email response from Laverty to Cann’s final April 7, 2014 email. The parties never drafted a written document memorializing the terms of their agreement.

On May 27, 2014, Laverty called for a special session of the Curriculum Subcommittee of the School Committee to discuss his recommendation to hire a second business technology teacher for the 2014-2015 school year. At this meeting, Laverty recommended hiring a second business technology teacher for the 2014-2015 school year.

3 This meeting started as a hearing of the Hyson grievance but turned into an informal discussion of the best way to resolve the grievance through settlement.

4 Although the settlement between the parties specified that Laverty’s recommendation would be made to the Finance Subcommittee, both sides subsequently realized that the recommendation needed to be presented to the Curriculum Subcommittee first.
academic year, but stated that Martin did not agree with this recommendation. Laverty then yielded the floor to Martin. Martin gave several reasons why FCTS should not hire a second shop teacher in the business technology shop, including, widely varying enrollment in the shop and the lack of safety issues present in other shops. The members of the Curriculum Subcommittee expressed some confusion due to the conflicting viewpoints of Laverty and Martin, but voted to recommend the hiring of a second shop teacher in the business technology shop by a vote of three in favor with one abstention. This action sent the matter to the Finance Subcommittee.

The next scheduled meeting of the Finance Subcommittee took place on June 4, 2014. At this meeting, Laverty again recommended hiring a second teacher in the business technology shop for the 2014-2015 academic year. However, Laverty then stated that both Martin and School Business Manager Russ Kaubris (Kaubris) were at the meeting to speak on the matter as well. Kaubris indicated that since the budget for the 2014-2015 school year had already been set, the only way to fund this position would be to make cuts somewhere else in the budget.\(^5\) Martin spoke next, stating his belief that the students in the business technology shop did not require a second teacher and that in this case, one instructor was capable of teaching two grades during the same class period.

Laverty then spoke in response to a question from a Committee member and stated that he was aware of other business technology programs in other districts where there was only one instructor teaching the class. At this point, Cann and Laverty had a

\(^5\) Although initially the Union argued that Kaubris' comments violated the Law as well, Kaubris was employed directly by the School Committee and had no reporting relationship to Laverty. Therefore, I do not reach the issue of the appropriateness of Kaubris' presentation. I merely note it in the context of Laverty's comments.
disagreement over whether the Curriculum Subcommittee had "recommended" hiring a second teacher for the 2014-2015 school year or had merely "passed over" the issue to the Finance Subcommittee. A motion was made and seconded to not approve the hiring of a second teacher in the business technology shop for the 2014-2015 academic year. This motion passed unanimously. The School Committee did not hire a second teacher for the business technology shop.

Opinion

The issue in this case is whether the School Committee failed to bargain in good faith in violation of Section 10(a)(5) of the Law when Laverty and Martin failed to offer unconditional support for funding a grievance settlement at the meeting of the Finance Subcommittee of the School Committee. To make this determination, I must first find that the parties reached a settlement to resolve the Hyson grievance. Second, I must determine that the actions of Laverty and/or Martin did not unconditionally support the terms of the settlement. Finally, if the answer to the first two questions is affirmative, I must decide whether the lack of unconditional support by Laverty and Martin constitutes bargaining in bad faith in violation of the Law.

The School Committee first argues that Laverty agreed to recommend hiring a second teacher in the business technology shop for the 2014-2015 school year as a result of a discussion he had with Cann, but not as part of settlement of Hyson's grievance. It then argues that there could be no settlement because the parties did not reduce anything to writing. I disagree. First, oral agreements between labor and management can be enforceable under the Law. SEIU, Local 509, 410 Mass. 141, 145 (1991). The Board has long recognized that a meeting of the minds can take place without anything being reduced to writing or signed by either party. City of Cambridge, 35 MLC 183, MUP-04-4229 (March 5, 2009) (citing Town of Ipswich, 11 MLC 1403, 1410, MUP-5248 (February 7, 1985)). It is up to the finder of fact to determine the intent of the parties to effectuate the terms of the settlement agreement. City of Cambridge, 35 MLC at 187.

It is clear in this case that the parties intended to reach a settlement agreement and did. At the April 1, 2014 grievance meeting, Cann and Laverty agreed to a two-part settlement. First, Laverty agreed to assign, and did assign, a specific substitute teacher full time to the business technology shop for the remainder of the 2013-2014 school year. Second, at the end of the grievance meeting, Laverty specifically agreed to recommend to the Finance Subcommittee and if successful there, to the full School Committee, the hiring of a second full time certified or certifiable teacher in the business technology shop for the 2014-2015 school year.

The School Committee alleges that since further discussion over the terms of the agreement took place between Cann and Laverty from April 4-7, no actual settlement occurred. Again, I disagree. Laverty's last email to Cann on the matter, dated April 7, references the "proposed compromise" and requested only that Cann accept deletion of a third paragraph regarding space for the business technology shop. Cann agreed to his request in her final email, and congratulates Laverty for reaching a settlement.
There was no evidence that Laverty responded to her statements by denying that a settlement existed. Therefore, I find that there was an agreement between Laverty and Cann to resolve the Hyson grievance. Part of that agreement required Laverty to submit to the Finance Subcommittee a request to fund a second teacher in the business technology shop for the 2014-2015 school year and unconditionally support that request.

Next, I consider whether the actions of Laverty and Martin at the Finance Subcommittee meeting of June 4, 2015 constituted the requisite unconditional support.
I find that they did not. According to the terms of the settlement between Laverty and Cann, Laverty agreed to "recommend" to the Finance Sub-committee that funding be provided for hiring a second full time certified or certifiable instructor in the business technology shop for the 2014-2015 school year.

It is undisputed that management negotiators have an unconditional obligation to seek funding for the cost items of collectively bargained agreements, and can be compelled to do so. Local 1652, IAFF v. Town of Framingham, 442 Mass. 463, 469 (2004); County of Suffolk v. Labor Relations Commission, 15 Mass. App. Ct. 127, 129, 133 (1983), See also, Mendes v. Taunton, 366 Mass. 109, 118 (1974); Town of Rockland, 16 MLC 1001, 1005, MUP-5603 (April 24, 1989). This obligation includes a requirement to express support for the funding request in the face of any expressed opposition. Mendes v. Taunton, 366 Mass. at 118; Town of Rockland, 16 MLC at 1005.

Failure to do so is a clear violation of the Law. Mendes v. Taunton, 366 Mass. at 118 (1974); City of Melrose, 28 MLC 53, MUP-1838, (June 22, 2001).

Here, the School Committee did not fulfill its unconditional obligation to seek funding for the settlement of the Hyson grievance. Martin was Laverty's subordinate and was similarly bound to seek funding for the settlement. Laverty indicated in his own remarks that Martin was opposed to the settlement, demonstrating prior knowledge that Martin would speak against funding the second business technology teacher. Laverty then gave Martin the opportunity to oppose the funding request which would have resolved the Hyson grievance. The actions of Laverty and Martin constituted a clear violation of the Law.

The sole remaining question is whether the duty to support funding is applicable to grievance settlements as well as collectively bargained agreements. It is. The Board has found that the settlement of a court case is functionally equivalent to the settlement of a collective bargaining agreement in triggering an employer's duty to unconditionally support any funding request necessary to effectuate that settlement. Board of Trustees of the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, 30 MLC 52, SUP-02-4890 (January 21, 2004). There is no compelling reason to differentiate the settlement of a grievance from the settlement of a court case in applying this obligation to an employer.

Moreover, adopting the position of the School Committee would not effectuate the purposes of the Law. To permit a subordinate to oppose funding any kind of settlement that had been negotiated by a direct supervisor would drastically undermine the confidence of unions and employers in the peaceful resolution of labor disputes in general. Such a practice would also impose another layer into the negotiations process. Simply put, the School Committee failed to bargain in good faith in violation of Section 10(a)(5) of the Law when: 1) Laverty conditioned his support of the request to fund the Hyson grievance by referencing Martin's opposition; 2) Martin spoke against funding the grievance settlement; and 3) Laverty did not refute Martin's opposition.
CONCLUSION

Based on the record and for the reasons explained above, I conclude that the Employer failed to bargain in good faith in violation of Section 10(a)(5) of the Law.

ORDER

WHEREFORE, based upon the foregoing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT the Franklin County Technical Regional School Committee shall:
