Summary

3 On October 12, 2017, the Association of Professional Administrators/MTA/NEA
4 (Union or APA) filed a unit clarification petition with the Department of Labor Relations 5 (DLR) seeking to accrete a total of six different positions into its bargaining unit of 6 professional administrative employees employed by the Board of Higher Education (BHE 7 or Employer).
8 9 On January 22, 2018, the PSA withdrew its petition as to two of the positions, and the DLR proceeded to investigate the petition with respect to the remaining four positions:
1. Executive Director for Marketing and Integrated Communications (ED Marketing/Communications) – Fitchburg State University (Fitchburg State)
2. Executive Director of Development and Alumni (ED Development/Alumni) – Framingham State University (Framingham State)
3. Executive Assistant to the Provost/Vice President (VP) of Academic Affairs – Framingham State
4. Executive Assistant to the Executive Vice President (EVP) of Administrative and Finance (A&F).

On January 30, 2018, the Union and the Employer participated in an informal conference at the DLR’s offices regarding these titles. Through position statements and exhibits submitted before and after the conference, the APA argues that the four positions are non-confidential, non-managerial positions that share a community of interest with other positions in its bargaining unit. The Employer contends that the two Framingham State Executive Assistant positions are properly excluded from the APA’s unit pursuant to the terms of the parties’ 2014-2016 collective bargaining agreement (2014-2016 CBA), and because they are confidential employees within the meaning of Section 1 of M.G.L. c. 150E (the Law). It further contends that the ED Marketing/Communications at Fitchburg State and the ED Development/Alumni at Framingham State should remain excluded based on the certain provisions in the 2014-2016 CBA, and because they are supervisory, managerial and/or confidential employees.

On May 10, 2019, the DLR sent the parties a letter asking them to show cause (Show Cause letter) why the unit placement dispute should not be resolved based on the information summarized therein. The Show Cause letter also requested some additional information. Neither party disputed the facts contained in the Show Cause letter or those that the BHE subsequently provided in response to the DLR’s request for additional information. After reviewing the responses and supplementing certain facts, the CERB has determined that there are no materially disputed facts and dismisses the petition as to all four positions for the reasons set forth below.

Background

Board of Higher Education

The BHE is the governing authority for fifteen community colleges and nine state universities including Fitchburg State and Framingham State.

APA

Initial Certification

On June 6, 1980, in Case No. SCR-2144, the former Labor Relations Commission certified the APA as the exclusive representative for a bargaining unit of professional employees in the state college system. The certification described the unit as "All full-time and regular part-time professional employees who regularly work twenty (20) or more hours each week occupying administrative positions at the State colleges..." The certification listed twenty-five titles that were included in the unit, including nineteen separate Director titles.¹ The title of “Staff Assistant” was also included, followed by a parenthetical stating, “except as any person in such position title [sic] is acting as the confidential secretary to, or the administrative assistant for, the President or Executive Vice President.”

¹ The Directors of Academic and Career Advising, Administrative Services, Computer Services, Financial Aid, Housing, Planning and Development, and Project were among those included in the original certification.
Part B of Appendix A of the original certification specifically excluded "All consultants and all CETA, managerial and confidential employees," as well nineteen other titles listed therein, including President, Executive Vice President, Vice President-Academic Affairs, Vice President-A&F, Vice President-Student Services, Assistant to the President, Director-Affirmative Action, Director-Facilities, Director-Fiscal Affairs, Director-Personnel, and several different Deans. The certification also expressly excluded the title of Staff Assistant, but "only as any person in such position title is acting as the confidential secretary to, or the administrative assistant for the President or Executive Vice President."

2013 Unit Clarification Petition

On August 5, 2013, the APA filed a unit clarification petition with the DLR in Case No. CAS-13-3029. The APA sought to accrete eighty-eight titles that were listed in Exhibit A to the petition, including a number of Staff Assistant positions at Bridgewater State, Fitchburg State, Framingham State, Massachusetts College of Art, Massachusetts Maritime, Salem State and Westfield State, including, in particular, the Staff Assistant to the Vice President of Academic Affairs at Framingham State, and a number of Staff Assistants to Vice Presidents at other campuses.

The parties subsequently bargained and narrowed the petition down to twenty-seven contested titles. In 2014, they entered into a Memorandum of Agreement (MOA), which resolved the petition in its entirety. Under the terms of the MOA, the Employer agreed to add twenty-four titles to the APA's unit in return for the APA withdrawing its petition with prejudice and agreeing not to contest the representation status of the remaining (non-accreted) positions listed in Exhibit A of the petition. Neither the Staff
Assistant to the Vice President of Academic Affairs at Framingham State nor any other Staff Assistants to Vice Presidents were accreted to the APA’s unit pursuant to the MOA.

The Composition and Scope of APA’s Unit as of 2017

As of the date of the petition, there were approximately 1500 employees in the APA’s unit. The unit includes sixty bargaining unit members that supervise other positions within the unit by performing performance evaluations, hiring and recommending discipline.

The 2014-2016 CBA contains a recognition clause in which the Employer recognizes the APA as the exclusive representative of the titles listed in Appendix A to that agreement. Similar to the original certification, Appendix A contains separate lists of included and excluded titles. Part B of Appendix A continues to exclude all managerial and confidential employees and the persons holding the enumerated titles listed in that section. However, Appendix A of the 2014-2016 CBA differs from the original certification in several material ways.

First, the twenty-four excluded titles include a “Development” position, which is parenthetically described as “the position with primary responsibility for development in the University.”\(^2\) The parties first agreed to exclude the Development position during their negotiations for the July 1, 1995-June 30, 1998 CBA.

Second, all Vice Presidents “with or without a designation” are excluded from the unit.

\(^2\) The term “University” is defined elsewhere in the 2014-2016 CBA as “any one of the institutions that is denominated a “State University” pursuant to Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 150A.”
Third, the exclusion for Staff Assistant now includes not only persons who act as the “confidential secretary to, or the administrative assistant for the President or Executive Vice President,” but also persons who act in that capacity to “a Vice President.” This change was made during negotiations for the 2014-2016 CBA.

Fourth, Appendix A to the 2014-2016 CBA includes a section titled, “New Positions,” which generally describes the procedure for determining the unit placement of new positions, including the parties’ agreement to refer disputes to the DLR for final adjudication. The parties added language to this section in 2011 stating that:

The title Executive Director shall be included in the unit when the position does not perform “confidential” or “managerial” duties as those are defined by G.L. c. 150E and interpreted by the Department of Labor Relations. Any dispute over the unit status of the Executive Director position shall be resolved by the Department of Labor Relations and is not grievable under Article XI, and may not be reviewed by an arbitrator.

The APA contends that this language led them to file the instant petition over the two Executive Director positions at issue here.

Disputed Titles
Fitchburg State Executive Director for Marketing and Integrated Communications
The BHE first considered creating this position shortly after the University’s new president was appointed in July 2015. According to the BHE, it created the ED

3 The exclusion for Staff Assistant now states: “Staff Assistant . . . (only as such person in such position title is acting as the confidential secretary to, or the administrative assistant for the President, Executive Vice President or a Vice President).” For reasons that are unclear, however, the definition of Staff Assistant in the list of included titles was not updated to reflect this change.
Marketing/Communications based upon an identified need to have the organizational structure and functions of communications across Fitchburg State centralized, and the University’s "brand" re-envisioned. The Assistant to the President had previously performed some, but not all of this position’s duties.

The position was first posted on October 1, 2016 and filled in February 2017. The 2016 posting stated in pertinent part:

General Statement of Duties: The Executive Director for Marketing and Integrated Communications will lead the institution’s communications, marketing, messaging, public relations and branding activity. The executive director will have the opportunity to re-envision the organization structure and function of communications across the university with their team. The executive director... will report directly to the president and work with other senior leaders to promote the university, increase its visibility, support its vision and goals, attract the best students, recruit high-quality faculty and staff, and motivate alumni and donors. He or she will oversee university communications, publications and web, new and social media, as well as the marketing and communications aspects of advancement, admissions, athletic and graduate and continuing education. In addition, the successful candidate will play a significant role in community relations.

The "Key goals and expectations" listed in the 2016 posting included:

- Use existing documents and additional research as required, develop and execute a strategic marketing and communications plan that includes measurable objectives and timelines;
- Work closely with the Vice President for Advancement on a marketing/communications program that will increase private giving to Fitchburg State;
- Determine how best to appropriate funding for the University’s many communications initiatives;
- Play a significant role in refining crisis and issues management strategies and responses.

The listed "Duties and responsibilities" included:

- Provide leadership and vision for a messaging and marketing strategy that advances Fitchburg State’s missions and goals;
- Manage communications for crises and other unanticipated events;
• Plan and oversee the design and production of all marketing, public relations and advertising projects;
• Direct the marketing, communications and public relations staff; and
• Strategically coordinate with all university departments to plan and execute integrated marketing campaigns.

Marilyn Siderwicz (Siderwicz) was hired as the ED Marketing/Communications in February 2017 and was the incumbent at the time of investigation. She supervises three APA members, the Director of Marketing, the Director of Public Relations and the Staff/Assistant/Digital Content Manager. Her supervisory responsibilities include assigning work, conducting performance evaluations, making decisions regarding hiring and firing, and either making or recommending disciplinary decisions. As of the investigation, she had not fired, or imposed or recommended discipline on any subordinate.

Siderwicz reports directly to Fitchburg State’s president. She also sits on the President’s Executive Cabinet, which meets bi-weekly to discuss matters such as the University’s financial statements, decisions regarding the allocations of resources, strategic planning, and personnel and labor-related issues, such as student pay scale, new positions, dean on-boarding and work to rule. The Executive Cabinet consists of the President, the Vice President of Academic Affairs/Provost, the Vice President of Finance and Administration, the Vice President of Student Affairs, the Vice President of Advancement, Associate Vice President of Academic Affairs, Associate Vice President of Human Resources/Payroll Services, the Assistant Vice President/CIO and Siderwicz.\(^4\)

The Executive Cabinet is not a voting body.\(^5\)

Siderwicz has control over her department's budget, but must consult with the President if an expense exceeds $5,000.

Shortly after assuming her position, Siderwicz created or updated several documents. One document was titled, "Marketing and Integrated Communications Plan Objectives and Strategies – 2017-2020," which tied the objectives and strategies set forth therein to four University goals. For example, one University goal was, "Build a university community that embraces civic and global responsibilities." One of the objectives listed under that goal was to "Create messages and use the President's office email account to send urgent and important communications to the campus community. Play a significant role in refining crisis and issues management strategies and responses." Tied to the University goal to "Grow and strategically align Fitchburg State's resources," was the objective to "Complement enrollment goals with new marketing and communications strategies to ensure success."

Around the fall of 2017, Siderwicz directed her Staff Assistant Matthew Serafini (Serafini), an APA bargaining unit member, to assist her in modifying an existing \(^4\) Based on the organization chart that BHE provided, all of these titles, except the Associate Vice President of Academic Affairs, report directly to the President. Two other titles also report directly to the President, the Special Assistant to the President, and the Director of Special Projects. Of these titles, however, only the Director of Special Projects is a member of the APA's bargaining unit.

\(^5\) The President also meets separately on a weekly basis with the four vice-presidents. Siderwicz does not attend these meetings.
document titled "Visual Identity and Social Media" guidelines. Prior to Siderwicz being hired, Framingham State had only a few marketing and communications policies that included some basic social media account guidelines, simple color standards and statements about acceptable uses of university logos. Siderwicz modified these guidelines by establishing university-wide, uniform visual identity and social media guidelines, and provided detailed information about using Twitter and Facebook to support overall Fitchburg State branding. Siderwicz also added a section titled "Marketplace Marketing," and created a new Marketing and Communications project intake form. Upon completion, the guidelines were posted to the Fitchburg State’s public relations website, where staff members can learn more about the services the marketing department offers.

Siderwicz is a member of Fitchburg State’s Crisis Communications team, along with the Director of Public Relations, Serafini, and members of the President’s Executive Cabinet. She is also Fitchburg State’s official spokesperson in the event of an emergency or incident on campus.

Before hiring Siderwicz, Fitchburg State had a Crisis Communications plan, which outlines the “roles, responsibilities and protocols ... to guide the university in promptly sharing information with all of Fitchburg State’s audiences during an emergency or crisis.” Part of Siderwicz’s responsibility is to periodically review and update that plan. Siderwicz made some updates to the plan in 2017 and, in her role as both ED Marketing/Communications and a member of the Crisis Communications team, has provided feedback on other emergency-related documents since then.

Framingham State

Executive Director, Development and Alumni Relations

This position was first created and posted in 2003. The initial posting described its role as "work[ing] with the alumni board, senior administrators, faculty, fund-raising volunteers and trustees to implement a comprehensive and effective strategy to meet Framingham State’s fundraising goals." The first posting indicated that the position reported to the Vice President of Administration and Finance, and served as a member of the President’s cabinet. Prior to 2003, the President and Chief Financial Officer were responsible for the University’s development activities and the Alumni Association handled its own alumni relations.

In 2006, some marketing and communications functions were added, and the position was retitled “Executive Director of College Advancement.” When the position became vacant in 2008, it was reposted as “Vice President of College Advancement.”

When that position became vacant in 2011, it was posted with its original title, Executive Director of Development and Alumni Relations. The 2011 posting indicated that the incumbent would lead all aspects of a comprehensive development office, including alumni relations and would report to the Executive Vice President.

Eric Gustafson (Gustafson) filled the position on February 6, 2012, and was the incumbent at the time of the investigation. Gustafson is in charge of all fundraising campaigns and executes them with little or no oversight. Gustafson also oversees how donations are directed and ensures that gifts comply with the donor’s wishes.

Gustafson has created the following policies since 2012: Gift Acceptance Policy; Alumni Event Payment Policy; Credit Card Processing Policy; Gift Processing Policy, Foundation Credit Card Policy, and Foundation Director Giving Guidelines.

Since August 9, 2014, Gustafson has reported directly to the President. Prior to that, he reported to the Executive Vice President Dale Hamel (Hamel). He travels with the President to donor meetings and is responsible for preparing the President for such meetings.

6 The Framingham State University Foundation is a non-profit entity whose purpose is to receive and manage gifts to the University. The Executive Director of Development also serves as the Executive Director of the foundation.
Gustafson sits on the President's Council, which last met in July 2017. There are approximately forty members of this Council including a number of Directors who are included in the APA unit. Gustafson also participates in monthly campaign meetings with the President and five other senior staff members\(^7\) to discuss campaign progress, funding updates and upcoming events.

At the time of the investigation, six APA bargaining unit members reported either directly or indirectly to Gustafson. The direct reports were two Associate Directors/Development Officers and the Director of Alumni Relations. The indirect reports were the Assistant Director of Development; Staff Associate/Manager of Advancement Services; and the Staff Assistant/Alumni Relations Coordinator. Gustafson assigns work to these employees, evaluates them and makes recommendations for hiring, promotion, and discipline, as needed.

In March 2018, Gustafson was promoted, and his new title is Vice President of Development and Alumni Relations. In this capacity, a seventh APA member reports to him, the newly created Director of Development position.

As a result of his promotion, Gustafson now attends and participates in meetings of the President's Executive Staff, which consists of non-unit vice presidents and Framingham State's Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer. Gustafson also sits on the President's Cabinet, which meets five times during the academic year. Labor relations matters, including collective bargaining and economic proposals, are discussed at Executive Staff meetings.

Executive Assistant to the Executive Vice President of Administration, Finance and Technology

Since at least 1984, the EVP of A&F has had a non-bargaining unit administrative assistant to assist with administrative and clerical tasks. The incumbent in the position, Margaret Charbonnier (Charbonnier) has held the position since 2004 and has reported to Hamel, the EVP of A&F, since that time.8

Until 2007, Charbonnier was classified as an NUP Administrative Assistant II. A 2004 posting for this title described the duties as setting up meetings; scheduling appointments; maintaining records and files; preparing correspondence; and recording budget information. Around 2007, Framingham State granted Charbonnier’s request to reclassify her position as an NUP “Staff Assistant,” which resulted in a pay raise.

The parties jointly submitted a job description dated October 25, 2017 for the reclassified title, which generally describes this position as providing primary support to the EVP of A&F and secondary support to the President’s Office and other Executive Staff members’ offices. In addition to the duties described in the 2004 posting, one of the essential duties listed in the 2017 description is “Exercise discretion with highly confidential information in all University matters on a daily basis.”

Hamel shares an office suite with the NUP Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer and an NUP Executive Assistant. Charbonnier sits outside Hamel’s office within earshot of all of his conversations. She opens Hamel's mail, answers his phone, manages his calendar and files, and prepares documents for meetings, including preliminary budget documents before they are finalized. She is also privy to letters that Hamel signs notifying employees that they are being disciplined or terminated.⁹ There have been at least ten terminations over the last three years.

Charbonnier also takes the minutes for all closed-door executive sessions for the Board of Trustees Finance Subcommittee.

Executive Assistant to the Provost/Vice President of Academic Affairs

This position has existed since at least 2004. It was classified as an NUP Administrative Assistant II in 2004, but was posted at the end of 2010 as an NUP Staff Assistant with the functional title of Executive Assistant. The 2004 posting consisted primarily of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts classification specification for the Administrative Assistant series and did not contain any information specific to this title. A 2010 posting for the position was more specific, indicating that the incumbent would:

[P]rovide support to the Vice President of Academic Affairs, Associate Vice President and departments/centers that report to Academic Affairs, as well as act as a liaison to other University departments and the faculty union.
Areas of responsibility include maintaining faculty contracts and personnel files; creating and updating databases for personnel actions and budgets; overseeing student evaluation process; working closely with HR regarding adjunct hiring; coordinating special events and meetings; maintaining webpage; supporting and contributing to the University's diversity initiative and other duties as assigned. This position will also supervise a part-time administrative assistant.

⁹There is no evidence, and BHE does not contend that Charbonnier or Hamel are privy to draft collective bargaining proposals.
Under "Requirements," the posting stated, "This position requires handling confidential information with the utmost discretion."

A 2015 job description for this title was substantially the same as the 2010 posting, but clarified that the incumbent's handling of "highly confidential information" would include "[r]eceiving formal grievances from faculty and assisting Vice President [sic] throughout the entire process."

The incumbent Katelyn Christopher (Christopher) was appointed to the position on August 24, 2015. Christopher had previously worked as an NUP Administrative Assistant in the same office from 2011 until she was promoted. At all material times, Christopher has reported to Dr. Linda Vaden-Goad (Vaden-Goad), the Vice President of Academic Affairs and Provost. Vaden-Goad serves as the Chief Academic Affairs Officer for the University, and sits on the BHE's bargaining team during contract negotiations with the Massachusetts Teachers Association/NEA, Massachusetts State College Association (MSCA). Christopher sits outside of Vaden-Goad's office.

Christopher answers Vaden-Goad's mail and has access to her files and shared drive. Christopher's labor and personnel-related duties include receiving formal faculty grievances, fielding student complaints against personnel, and creating and maintaining the database for personnel actions, such as reappointment, tenure, and promotion decisions. Christopher also has access to Vaden-Goad's email accounts, which, due to Vaden-Goad's position on BHE's bargaining team, include emails from BHE labor counsel and senior officials at other BHE campuses discussing management's bargaining proposals and strategies, grievances, and other labor relations matters.
There is also an NUP Administrative Assistant II in the Provost’s office. An undated job description for this position indicates that the position has “significant access and exposure to confidential information concerning labor relations matters, management’s position on personnel matters, and advance knowledge of the employer’s collective bargaining proposals.”

Other NUP Staff Assistants/Associates at Framingham State

In addition to the NUP staff or administrative assistant titles previously mentioned, the Executive Assistant to the President and the Executive Assistant to the Vice President of Enrollment and Student Development are non-unit positions.

Opinion

A unit clarification petition is the appropriate vehicle to determine whether newly-created positions should be included in a bargaining unit. Sheriff of Worcester County, 30 MLC 132, 136, CAS-03-3543 (April 7, 2004). In analyzing whether a position should be accreted into an existing bargaining unit, the CERB considers: 1) whether the position was included in or excluded from the unit when the unit was originally recognized or certified; 2) whether the parties’ subsequent conduct, including bargaining history, discloses that the parties considered the position to be in the bargaining unit; and 3) whether the position shares a community of interest with other positions in the existing bargaining unit. Town of Granby, 28 MLC 139, 141, CAS-3477 (October 10, 2001). If the first or second prong of the accretion analysis is conclusive as to a given position, the

10 The CERB’s jurisdiction is not contested.
CERB will dismiss the petition without determining whether, under the third prong, the position shares a community of interest with other positions in the unit.

As explained below, the second prong is conclusive as to the two Executive Assistant positions and the ED Development/Alumni. Under the second prong of the accretion analysis, the CERB examines how the parties have treated the disputed positions in their dealings with each other and in their collective bargaining. City of Malden, 32 MLC 97, 100, CAS-04-3599 (November 2, 2005). The CERB will not accrete a position into an existing bargaining unit if the parties have executed a collective bargaining agreement demonstrating an intent to exclude the petitioned-for positions, unless the job duties of the position have changed materially. Commonwealth of Massachusetts, 30 MLC 156, 157, CAS-03-3539, 3540 (May 27, 2004) (citing Board of Trustees, University of Massachusetts, 8 MLC 1385, 1389 (1981) (additional citations omitted)). We dismiss the petition with respect to the following three positions on this basis.

Executive Assistant to the Executive Vice President of Administration, Finance and Technology – Framingham State

The record does not conclusively establish that this position existed when the unit was first certified in 1980. The first prong of the accretion test is therefore inconclusive as to this title.

As to the second prong, we conclude that Part B of Appendix A of both the certification and the CBA demonstrates the parties’ intent to exclude this title without regard to whether the incumbent is a confidential employee within the meaning of Section 1 of the Law.
We reach this conclusion for two reasons. First, the first sentence of Part B excludes “All consultants and all . . . managerial, confidential employees and all persons holding the following positions...” (Emphasis added). Because all managerial and confidential employees are already excluded pursuant to the first part of this sentence, it follows that the enumerated list of titles that follow this sentence are excluded regardless of whether they are managerial or confidential employees.

Second, because this title reports to an Executive Vice President, it falls under the exclusion in Part B for “Staff Assistant” . . . (only as any person in such position title is acting as the confidential secretary to, or the administrative assistant for the President, Executive Vice President or a Vice President)."

The use of the term “confidential” in this exclusion does not change this conclusion.

Based on the wording and punctuation of the provision we conclude that the adjective “confidential” modifies only the term “secretary,” as in the position of “confidential secretary,” and not “administrative assistant.”

We thus find that this section of the CBA demonstrates the parties’ intent to exclude all employees acting as an administrative assistant for an EVP, whether “confidential” or 11 We reach this conclusion because the definite article “the” precedes both “confidential secretary” and “administrative assistant.” Because the preposition “to” as well as a comma also separates these terms, the exclusion is reasonably construed as referring to Staff Assistants who either act as “confidential secretaries” or “administrative assistants” to the President, Executive Vice President or a Vice President. Our construction of this provision is in accord with the threshold statutory analysis in Commonwealth v. Stephen M. Jean-Pierre, 65 Mass. App. Ct. 162 (2005). There, construing the phrase “bodily injury that results in a permanent disfigurement, loss or impairment of a bodily function, limb or organ,” the court considered a construction that applied “permanent” to modify only “disfigurement” to be the “most natural and sensible reading of the sentence structure in the statutory definition.” Id. at 163.

not. Where there is no evidence or argument that the Staff Assistant at issue does not serve in this capacity or that the duties of the position have materially changed, we dismiss the petition as to this title.\textsuperscript{12}

Executive Assistant to the Provost/Vice President of Academic Affairs - Framingham State

The first prong of the accretion test is inconclusive because the record does not clearly establish that this position existed when this unit was first certified in 2000.

The second prong is conclusive, however, based on two agreements that the parties entered into that demonstrate their intent to exclude this title: 1) The 2013 MOA, in which Union agreed not to contest the bargaining unit status of the petitioned-for positions in CAS-13-2059 that were not accreted into the unit, including the Staff Assistant to the VP of Academic Affairs at Framingham State, the position at issue here; and 2) the 2014-2016 CBA, in which, as discussed above, the parties agreed to exclude Staff Assistants who serve as administrative assistants to a Vice President.

Where there is no evidence and no party contends that the duties of the position have materially changed since 2013, the second prong of the accretion test is conclusive as to this title.

Executive Director, Development and Alumni Relations – Framingham State

Because there is no evidence that this position existed before 2004, the first prong is inconclusive. The second prong is again conclusive, however, based on the parties’

\textsuperscript{12} There is no dispute that the two Executive Assistant titles are Staff Assistants under the CBA who act as administrative assistants for the Provost/Vice President of Academic Affairs and EVP of A&F. In any event, both positions were previously titled Administrative Assistant, and there is no contention that their duties have significantly changed since then.
agreement in Part B of Appendix A of the 2014-2016 CBA, to exclude the “Development” position that is parenthetically described as “the position with primary responsibility for development in the University.” Whether serving as the Executive Director of Development and Alumni Relations, or in the position to which he was recently promoted, the Vice President for Development and Alumni Relations, no party disputes that the position that Gustafson has held since 2012 is the position with “primary responsibility for development in the university.” It is thus properly excluded from the unit pursuant to this agreement.

The fact that the parties agreed in 2011 to include all Executive Directors in the unit, unless they are confidential or managerial employees, does not change this result.
The Development exclusion first appeared in the 1995-1998 CBA, and thus predates the ED exclusion by at least fourteen years. We reasonably presume that the parties were aware of the Development exclusion when they negotiated the ED inclusion language in 2011, and thus could have, but did not, negotiate any exceptions to it based on this new language. Moreover, even though the ED inclusion language was negotiated in 2011, the same year that the ED Development/Alumni position was posted as an NUP title, the Union did not protest its exclusion from the bargaining unit until now. This further demonstrates that the parties did not intend the new ED language to override the longstanding bargaining unit exclusion for Development positions with primary responsibility for development. Finally, the fact that Gustafson has since been promoted to Vice President, and the recognition clause broadly excludes all Vice-Presidents, “with or without designation” provides a further basis to decline to accrete this title to the unit.

Executive Director for Marketing and Integrated Communications – Fitchburg State
Like the other titles, the first prong of the accretion analysis is inconclusive as to this position because it was first created around July 2015. As discussed above, however, since 2011, the parties have agreed to include Executive Directors in the unit, provided that they do not perform managerial or confidential duties within the meaning of the Law. In the absence of any other provisions in the CBA that exclude this title, the bargaining unit status of the ED Marketing/Communications therefore turns upon whether the incumbent is a managerial or confidential employee within the meaning of the Law. We conclude that Siderwicz's duties render her a managerial employee under the first part of the statutory definition, discussed below.

Managerial Employee

Section 1 of the Law contains the following three-part test to determine managerial status:

Employees shall be designated as managerial employees only if they (a) participate to a substantial degree in formulating or determining policy, or (b) assist to a substantial degree in the preparation for or the conduct of collective bargaining on behalf of a public employer, or (c) have a substantial responsibility involving the exercise of independent judgment of an appellate responsibility not initially in effect in the administration of a collective bargaining agreement or in personnel administration.

An employee must be excluded from an appropriate bargaining unit under Section 3 of the Law if the person's actual duties and responsibilities satisfy any one of the three statutory criteria referenced above. Town of Athol, 32 MLC 50, 52, CAS-04-3567 (June 29, 2005).

To be considered a managerial employee under the first part of the managerial test, the employee must make policy decisions and determine mission objectives. City of The BHE argues that Siderwicz meets the criteria of a managerial employee under the first part of the managerial analysis because she is a key figure for communications and marketing who “substantially participates” in determining policies on these issues. The BHE emphasizes that Siderwicz reports directly to Fitchburg State’s president, who relies upon her to make decisions about how to accomplish its primary objective of continually increasing its visibility and reputation. The BHE also emphasizes Siderwicz’s role in emergency planning and crisis communications, including that she is Fitchburg State’s spokesperson in the event of an emergency or incident on campus.

13 The BHE does not contend that the ED Marketing/Communications meets the criteria set forth in the second and third parts of the managerial test.
The APA disagrees that the position is managerial, arguing that while important, the policies that Siderwicz develops are not central to the BHE’s core mission of providing education. The Employer counters this argument by pointing to the 2016 posting for Siderwicz’s position, which indicates that the incumbent “provides leadership and vision” for Fitchburg’s messaging and marketing strategy, which “advances” Fitchburg State’s “missions and goals.”

We conclude that Siderwicz is a managerial employee based on the combination of factors cited by the BHE. The facts reflect that she has been vested with the broad discretion and authority, without any intervening layer of administration, to allocate resources for, and to create and update communications, marketing tools and strategies to implement the University’s major goals on matters such as increasing enrollment and creating a community that embraces civic and global responsibilities. When this authority is coupled with the role she plays in formulating the University’s crisis response policies, including sitting on the Crisis Team, updating crisis policies and serving as the University’s official spokesperson during emergencies, we conclude that the duties of this position impact a significant part of the public enterprise, i.e., how Fitchburg State communicates with and presents itself to its internal and external constituents, particularly in times of crisis. What distinguishes this title from other public relations or marketing titles within Fitchburg State is that the ED Marketing/Communications reports directly to the President, and thus does not need anyone’s approval, except perhaps the President’s, to plan, develop, budget for, and enforce her initiatives.

14 There is no evidence that the President has ever modified or overridden any of Siderwicz’s initiatives.
Siderwicz may not have ultimate responsibility for formulating the University's major goals for matters such as increasing enrollment and creating a community that embraces civic and global responsibilities, her role in formulating the "Marketing and Integrated Communications Plan – Objectives and Strategies, 2017-2020," demonstrates that she has the independent authority to advance those goals. In this regard, her role is similar to that of the Director of the Council of Aging (COA) in Town of Greenfield, 32 MLC 133, 152, MUP-04-4178, CAS-04-3588 (February 8, 2006). There, even though the COA Director acknowledged that he worked under the policy direction of the Mayor and Council on Aging, the CERB determined that he was a managerial employee because he did more than just administer the town’s elder services program, he had the independent authority to create, implement and enforce programs that he had created based on his assessment of the needs of the population. Id. We find that Siderwicz has comparable discretion and authority over Fitchburg State's marketing and communications initiatives, and thus decline to accrete her to the APA's unit.15

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, we decline to accrete the four petitioned-for titles to the APA's unit and DISMISS the petition in its entirety.

15 Based on our holding, we do not have to reach the BHE's alternative argument that Siderwicz is a confidential employee.
