Revised UFR License Agreement

The Operational Services Division (OSD) administers the Uniform Financial Reporting (UFR) System pursuant to a license agreement with the UFR software vendor. OSD has acquired a single license for use by your organization that may be used by a single individual only. Please be advised that the license credentials may not be shared between individuals or organizations. Should your use of the UFR system fail to adhere to this license limit or other terms of the software license agreement, you will be responsible for all fees incurred by OSD associated with that excess usage. This may include retroactive fees, application of then-current rates, and penalties assessed by the software vendor or its auditor.

By providing the following information and signing below, you acknowledge your responsibility for use of the UFR system in accordance with this user limitation:
